Lions Club May Withdraw Offer of Lights for Baseball Following Negative Reception

Lights for small baseball players spotlight a continuing problem in Princeton: public facilities of every kind are enjoyed with such relish that they are victims of their own success. The library is used so heavily that it needs to expand—which costs money; playing fields are used so exhaustively that they need to be re-constructed—which costs money; people want to start up new programs in various sports—which costs money.

"We could use twice as many tennis courts as we now have," says Recreation Director Donald Barr. "We've got 15, we need 15 more."

Princeton's Lions Club went to Borough and Township offering $9,000 toward the $30,270 cost of a Little League baseball field at the southern end of the Grover Avenue playground. Council voted 4-2 to accept the offer; Committee voted 4-0 to accept it, provided the Lions did not insist on lights for night games.

The Lions are angry over the apparent rejection; both governing bodies, they say, had seemed receptive when the proposal was laid out on the agenda.

"Nobody has contacted us," is the bitter comment of the Lions' Douglas Hoffman. "We learned about it in the papers."

At the moment, it looks as though the Lions may withdraw the offer.

"I told the club I wanted a vote on the lights question," Mr. Hoffman explains. "The membership voted 'no,' if there couldn't be lights, and personally I feel very strongly about this myself. I remember when I was a kid in Princeton, my father never could see me play because he got home too late."

Mr. Barr says he warned the Lions they would get a dim reception on the question of lights, but that's the way they wanted it. And he adds:

"You won't get a better deal on those lights: at cost, with volunteer labor."

The lights, according to Lions figures, would cost $18,000. Objection to them was based partly on cost, partly on the effect on neighbors.

When Mr. Barr looks over his recreation program and its needs, he finds himself thinking warmly of people like the Lions, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Smoyer and Robert Sibson, and he wonders whether there aren't more out there somewhere.

The Smoyers, ardent tennis-players, have offered to pay one-half the cost of installing lights for Princeton's six hard-surface tennis courts. This is a $15,000 gift toward a $30,000 project. It will increase dramatically the amount of playing time on the courts, and ease the scheduling.

Wine Talk
by Archie Browne
SOAVE - A FAVORITE WINE FROM ITALY
Soave (Swa-vay) is without a doubt Italy's most famous white wine. Soave is produced just east of Verona in the immediate vicinity of the picturesque walled town of "Soave". Soave is made from a blend of grapes which include the Garganega and Trebbiano varieties.
It is pale - straw in color and leaves a clean taste on the palate. Soave is a dry wine, not overly acidic, with an alcoholic content of 10-11%, and is the favorite white wine of neighboring Venice.
Soave goes very well with all types of sea-food and is bottled in long narrow green bottles like Moselle Wines. Soave is not a great wine, it is a pleasant wine and the amount sold in the American market is quite impressive.
This is an early maturing wine and should be consumed before it is five (5) years old, served well-chilled.

Council Member van den Blink Hopes to Persuade Associates On Governing Body to Cast Votes against Genetic Research

A Borough municipal official who opposes DNA re-combinant research acknowledged this week that she had been "lobbying" among her colleagues, including the mayor, attempting to convince them that such research should be prohibited.

"I don't regard lobbying as a dirty word," said Nelson van den Blink. "I think there are two important things: one is to know where you are yourself, and the second is, if you have a strong opinion to try to get support for that opinion."

"As an elected official, I have this responsibility. I have talked at length to everyone on Council, including the mayor, and had done so before I made my statement."

Mrs. van den Blink stated, at the conclusion of the first public meeting on DNA research, that she opposed it in Princeton at this time. She did not indicate that she would try to persuade Council of her views. During the second public meeting, Township Committee member David Blair announced that he is in favor of permitting DNA research with proper safeguards.

"I had always been very skeptical about this kind of research at this time, and that's why I wanted to be Council liaison to the DNA citizens committee," Mrs. van den Blink continued. "I tried very hard to have an open mind, and I have moved in my thinking."

Mrs. van den Blink said she regarded it as "faulty reasoning" to separate low-risk P-1 and P-2 research from higher-risk P-3 research. The citizens committee has suggested that municipal officials might pass an ordinance allowing this research, since Princeton University would like to move ahead with it this summer. P-3 decisions, the committee proposed, might be set aside until later. The University so far, has no P-3 labs and is not yet ready to pursue the P-3 level of research.

"It is not altogether clear that P-2 experiments are that safe," she said.

Borough Council and Township Committee have scheduled a joint meeting for next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. It is a work session, to be devoted wholly to DNA. It is expected that the two governing bodies will decide at this session whether to allow artificial recombinant DNA research.

The citizens committee voted 8-3 to recommend that Princeton allow artificial DNA re-combinant research, under National Institutes of Health guidelines, Princeton University's own guidelines, and restrictions such as registration, disclosure of research and monitoring by a biohazards committee whose component would include citizens of the town.

A dissenting report recommends prohibiting DNA research of this kind at present.

the staff and develop some idea of what the Princeton community will tolerate in the way of cost. The report is due by the board's September meeting.

Depending on advice in the citizens' report, remodeling could cost anywhere from $1 million to $8 million.

At last Tuesday's meeting, the board decided to study a recommendation to pay $38,000 a year to whoever holds the new job of assistant superintendent. The figure was recommended by Acting Superintendent Edith Francis

To Name Citizens Committee. A committee of 12 to 15 citizens will be appointed by the school board at its meeting next Tuesday (8 p.m., Valley Road) to decide what Princeton should do about renovating the high school.

The Princeton High School Bond Referendum Advisory Committee will consist of one member each representing Borough and Township -- appointed by the mayors -- representatives of the high school staff, the PTO organizations, and from four to seven community members chosen by the school board for broad community representation.

This group will be asked to meet with architects from the J. Robert Hillier firm, visit and examine the school, talk with teachers and others on

Seward Johnson Neighbors Attack Plans for Helistop on His Property

Affectionate names like "whirly-bird" and "chopper" are sometimes used for the big, ungainly bird known as a helicopter, but neighbors of J. Seward Johnson do not feel affection toward the species. They proved their feelings last Wednesday in Township Hall -- some 40 of them -- and Township Committee found itself with three identical petitions bearing the names of 120 people who don't want a helistop anywhere near their property.

J. Seward Johnson, through Ronson Aviation, is asking the state for permission to build a helistop on his estate off the Lawrenceville Road. Public hearing will be held next Wednesday, June 29, at 10 a.m. in Township Hall before the Bureau of Aviation of the Division of Aeronautics of the Department of Transportation.

Township Committee will tell the state that it opposes granting the helistop permit.

Although the deadline for notifying the state that you wish to speak has passed, attorneys representing Johnson neighbors are urging the public to show up anyway, regardless of permission to speak a few words.

Gordon Strauss, attorney for many of the neighbors, told Committee that noise, disruption of an otherwise "rather tranquil" neighborhood, disturbances to wild life were all part of the residents protest. They are already bothered, he added, by curiosity-seekers who fly over the Johnson estate to see what they can see.

"What is the reason for wanting this helistop?" Mr. Strauss asked. "There is no health emergency, only convenience for one resident."

Nieghbors who live on Rosedale, Lambert Drive, Edgerstone, Russell, Hun, Carson and Provinceline, must convince the state that the interests of the public are weighty enough to deny the application of a single individual.

A "Helistop" is different from a "heliport." A helistop is simply a place where helicopters can land, according to a Ronson pilot. It is temporary, and without any facilities except a wind indicator. Mr. Johnson would like to use a large meadow within the grounds of his estate.

He has been a client of Ronson's for some time, renting helicopter service out of Mercer Airport to fly to other airports. At Wednesday night's meeting, several protesters suggested that Mr. Johnson use Princeton Airport, which is only about three miles -- as a helicopter flies -- from his estate.

Whoever loses in Wednesday's encounter, the next helistop would be the Appellate Division of Superior Court.

Princeton Township, incidentally, has an ordinance banning helicopter stops. A case heard before the Appellate Court said the state could over-ride such local ordinances; however, that very case is now in the hands of the State Supreme Court, so the final outcome of the Johnson request may hover in the air for some time.

Lights for Baseball

Mr. Sibson, through his Sibson Fund, sponsors the AAU track program and the Dillon gym basketball league for children and intermediates. He also sponsored a pilot program in soccer.

The idea was that a single year of soccer would show whether there was sufficient interest to proceed. In Mr. Barr's view, it was a good pilot and so he included it in his next year's budget. The governing bodies wiped it out because it was too new.

Incorporated into the regular Rec. program run by Mr. Barr are those eight Little League baseball teams, 10 men's softball teams, nine women's softball teams, two lacrosse programs (young and older), summer programs at 12 playgrounds, tennis on 15 courts, bocci on two courts and swimming pools used by about 3,500 people starting at 6 a.m. with the masters swim program and continuing without interruption until the pools close 14 hours later.

To say nothing of basketball, midget football, the Babe Ruth League (13-15-year olds) and social programs for the elderly.

But he is wary of donations supporting programs, because if the money stops for any reason, the Rec. department either has to pick up the cost, or leave a lot of disappointed people outside the door.

At one time, everybody wanted lights at the swimming pool, but that's out now. Not enough use or need to justify that expense, Mr. Barr believes.

What he'd really like, is the contribution of a community center. "It could be used for many things and many ages," he says eagerly, "teen activities, the elderly - we're doing both those age groups more and more."

"And we desperately need an overpass to cross State Road and link the new north side of Community Park with the south side."

But the price tag on that is $300,000 - a figure quoted by the state (Route 206 is a state highway, and an overpass would require state co-operation) out of experience with overpasses on the Garden State.

"We've even investigated a tunnel. Western Electric has one, but their sump pump goes all the time. And some people are worried about crime, with a tunnel."

Problems Cited. "A one-shot, special contribution - excellent!" Mr. Barr says, thinking of the bright lights.

Tentative Agreement. Several months ago, a group of young men asked Borough Council for a place to play pick-up basketball. Mr. Barr arranged for the PHS gym one night a week, but few players showed up.

Right now, he has a tentative agreement with the school board on lighting the former "bubble" area behind Community Park School for summer night basketball. The Rec. department would install the lights - probably not as expensive as baseball lights for the Little Leaguers - and there could be two basketball surfaces. "This would serve the summertime needs of many people," Mr. Barr believes.

He is a believer in using community facilities as fully as possible, and he says quietly, "I think we're getting this message across to the school board."

He would like to use school gymnasiums outside school hours, to a much greater extent than now. "They are community gymnasiums after all," he says.

The Background. When the Lions' proposal was being discussed, one municipal official worried that if the Little League got such a splendid establishment, older teams would say, "Hey, how about us?"

This doesn't worry Mr. Barr. "For softball, you don't need an officially-sanctioned field. That's what the Lions want."

The club wanted the lights, Mr. Hoffman explains, in case Little League teams in Princeton decided to affiliate with the Williamsport, Pennsylvania, Little League system. Also, smaller towns than Princeton have such fields, and the Lions are asking, "Why not Princeton?"

Mr. Hoffman repeats that donations would go beyond the $9,000. Public Service would install the poles free, the club planned to solicit donations for infield work, scoreboard and dug-outs.

Were Neighbors Told? There still seems to be confusion as to whether neighbors of Grover Avenue were told there would be bright, 40-50-foot light poles with what Mr. Barr calls "substantial light spillage." Mr. Barr says the Lions told the neighbors; Mr. Hoffman says somebody else handled the petitions and therefore, he doesn't know.

Tennis lights are different. They are only 15 feet or 30 feet high, with shields. Birch Avenue neighbors, approached by the Rec. board, haven't protested.

Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley, concerned about the Lions' offer, said this week, "I hope we can come up with a compromise to satisfy the Lions and everybody else."

and Superintendent Paul Houston. Dr. Houston feels that the post should pay more than that of high school principal. The job has not yet been advertised.

In other action, the board decided to settle the $10,000 budget problem at the high school by reducing a secretary from 12 to 10 months, and not hiring new aides, who were to have been paid on an hourly basis.

WELCOME BACK!

Gottlieb a Planner Again. Golda Gottlieb was embraced by Margen Penick, kissed by Jerome Rose, William H. Walker kissed her hand and Karl Light shook hands with her. She was back on the Planning Board.

"Not that I am any happier," Mrs. Gottlieb said the day after her warm "welcome back!" at the start of Monday night's housing meeting. "But I was assured that things are not fixed forever, and that there would still be a chance for influence or impact."

A Planning Board delegation -- Mrs. Penick, board chairman; Martin P. Lombardo and Elizabeth Hutter -- called on Mrs. Gottlieb and urged her to reconsider the resignation she abruptly submitted in late May over discontent with the housing plan now under discussion.

"I was overwhelmed by the things the delegation said," Mrs. Gottlieb continued. "It came through clearly that several Planning Board members have looked to me to interpret many technical matters."

Mrs. Gottlieb holds a housing position with the state and was formerly executive director of the Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council.

Still a Chance. "Maybe there is still an opportunity to get some sense made out of this thing," she said of the housing plan, "it really doesn't all come together."

Although asked by Mrs. Penick to explain parts of the plan, she declined to do so at Monday night's session. She will not be present at each of the remaining public meetings, she said.

The next public information meeting will be this Wednesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall. The third will be this Saturday at 10 a.m. in Township Hall, and the fourth next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Township Hall. All meetings are identical, shaped only by public comment, and have been scheduled in this manner to allow the fullest possible public participation.

"Fair Share" Required. About 25 people shook off Monday night's thunderstorm to attend the meeting. They heard Dr. Rose explain that the planning board believes court decisions require a community to provide its "fair share" of low-moderate housing not only for itself, but for the region.

Communities will probably be given a number by the state, indicating their "fair share," Mrs. Penick added.

Also, court decisions have said a town must provide "least cost" housing, small lots for small homes and multi-family accommodations.

"I believe this report will help us in any challenge that might be made in the courts," Dr. Rose declared.

Subsidized housing -- without Federal or state money -- means subsidization by taxpayers, said Charles Cornforth. "The burden could fall on the very people you're trying to help."

Jay Bleiman, former Township mayor, pointed out that all low-cost housing is subsidized by a community: for example, A research plant bringing in big rateables could have been built where PCV now is, Princeton taxpayers are subsidizing their own public housing and PCV, in that sense, he said, "but it's done in every town, which makes it equitable."

Plan Praised. Designating areas for high-density building seemed confusing to the audience. Dr. Rose explained that such designation on a map would be part of the forthcoming land-use study, not the housing plan.

League of Women Voters representatives praised the plan, but asked for safeguards to prevent clumping of all low-cost housing in one or two projects, and questioned whether small, scattered sites are a good idea.

Len Newton, for 20 years a proponent of low-cost housing, chastised the board for delay, and said he was dismayed at Dr. Rose's estimate of "over a year" to prepare the land-use phase of the plan.

Dr. Rose emphasized that high-density housing will not be allowed except as a bonus to developers for including low-cost housing as part of their developments.

"The desire to live in Princeton would make a buyer pay more for a house, and these purchases would subsidize a developer's lower-income housing."

"If his doesn't work," he told the audience, "we could change the system in two or three years."

One plan, if the system didn't work, would be for the municipal government to buy land for low-cost housing. Planning Board members said this would be a last-stand policy.

I DARE YOU...

Driver Does, Charges Fly. A chance remark, acted on impulsively, has led to a series of police charges against a 17-year old Princeton youth.

Joseph K. Wright, 21 Greenview Avenue, has been charged by Ptl. John Holcombe with reckless driving and leaving the scene of an accident. In addition, he faces juvenile charges of malicious damage to property, resisting arrest and being under the influence of liquor as a minor.

According to police, Wright, shortly before midnight Thursday, drove his car off the Cleveland Lane roadway and onto the lawn at 42 Cleveland Lane. Police said his car flattened a small sapling and continued on. Then it doubled back, left the roadway again, damaging shrubs and lawn at the same address and continued on toward Bayard Lane.

A witness supplied police with the license registration.

The car was seen at 12:35 a.m. by Patrolmen Gerald Patterson and Randy Sutton, who stopped it on Harrison Street near Hamilton Ptl. John Holcombe, who had investigated the previous incident, arrived shortly thereafter.

The driver, Guido Terziotti, 2 Jeffrey Lane, West Windsor, accompanied by Wright in the back seat and two 16-year old girls, denied any knowledge of the Cleveland Lane incident. He told police that he had just gotten out of work and the car had been in the possession of Wright earlier in the evening.

Wright was asked by police to leave the rear seat, after Ptl. Sutton allegedly found a bottle of Tequila in the back of the car. Wright, police said, became profane, belligerent and antagonistic. They report that he admitted to being on Cleveland Lane earlier in the evening. When he allegedly made an aggressive motion toward Ptl. Sutton, he was placed under arrest. He became violent and had to be forcibly subdued, police said.

At police headquarters, Wright admitted after lengthy questioning, police said, that he had driven on the lawn on Cleveland Lane upon the

Man Arrested Here for Speeding Finds Computer Is Ready to Reveal His Past

Reginald Pittman, 23, of Trenton, who had been able to escape apprehension by Trenton police, was tripped up on a speeding violation in Princeton.

When he was stopped at 2:30 Thursday morning on Nassau Street near Harrison by Ptl. John Holcombe and Ptl. Randy Sutton for speeding, the officers decided to run a check through the National Crime Information Center's computer in Washington, D.C. "They made a hit," commented Chief Michael Carnevale.

Pittman is reportedly wanted by Trenton police who had warrants for his arrest for larceny ($500 bail), for bastardly charges ($500) and for motor vehicle violations ($450 bail). He was turned over to Trenton police suggestion of one of his female passengers.

He told police that he had been driving around and had picked up two girls, one from Princeton Township and the other from Kendall Park.

"We were on Cleveland Lane," police quoted Wright. "One of the girls' ex-boyfriend lives on this street. She made a suggestion and I took it. I started to terrorize the lawn. I drove up on it a couple of times and left."

CONTRACTS REVISED

For Sewer Service. Revised service contracts will be sent by the Stony Brook Regional Sewerage Authority to governing bodies of all seven member municipalities for introduction at the first meetings in July, and hoped for passage later in the month. "Ratification of this revised contract should achieve substantial savings in interest charges while re-uniting the member municipalities, in a common cause," said Robert Harvey, executive director of the Authority, in making the announcement.

Members of the Authority are the two Princetons, the two Hopewells, Pennington, West Windsor and South Brunswick.

The changes being sought at this time are in anticipation of going to permanent financing in November 1977. Tristram B. Johnson, the Authority's bond counsel, had said that revision of the service contract is feasible only at a time of refinancing; if members of the Authority cannot unanimously agree on the revisions now, it could cause at least a six-months delay in permanent financing.

This would mean higher short-term -- and probably long-term -- costs as well, he warned. These higher costs would ultimately be reflected in higher service charges to individual users.

Two basic changes in the contract are needed, according to Mr. Harvey. One will change the system connections map to permit a three plant system, specifically affecting Princeton and Hopewell Townships. The other will limit Hopewell Township's service area to a small region surrounding Pennington Borough, and will reduce Hopewell Township's guaranteed minimum flow accordingly.

The other municipalities have had a long-standing concern that the future obligation to service the entire Stony Brook and Bedens Brook Watershed portions of Hopewell Township under a three plant system would impose an unknown and potentially significant burden on them. These revisions would relieve this concern and conform more closely to Hopewell Township's Master Plan.

DEMOCRATS UNITED?

So far, in an unusual atmosphere of sweetness and love that must have scared Republicans out of their wits, Princeton Democrats last week joined to elect John Huntoon chairman of the Borough Committee, Alan Wallace as vice-chairman and Louise Bessire as secretary-treasurer.

The fact that this particular trio has sufficiently resolved its past differences to work as a trio is newsworthy in itself, for those who follow local politics.

Mrs. Bessire, for example, was a strong supporter of Freeholder Barbara Sigmund and Mr. Wallace a strong opponent of Mrs. Sigmund when she was making a bid to be appointed to a vacant position on the Mercer County Board of Freeholders.

Mr. Huntoon won election as fifth district committeeman at the same time Jan Schneier lost as fifth district committeewoman, and Mrs. Schneier and Mr. Wallace were allies.

Last year, the Democrats had a bruising fight in the primaries. This year, there was no contest. In the Borough, incumbent Council member Nelson van den Blink is running for re-election with incumbent Leona Medvin, who was rejected by the Democrats last year and won as an independent with Republican backing.

Whether Mrs. Medvin will remember that she won without Democratic support and continue to be independent, or whether she will run as a team with Mrs. van den Blink -- who last year, supported Mrs. Medvin's opponent Marvin Trotman -- will be watched with interest as the campaign gets under way.

In the Township, Kate Litvack, candidate for Township Committee was elected municipal chairman and William Sutphin was elected vice-chairman. Mrs. Litvack was on the nominating committee that recommended Richard J. Coffee as chairman of the Mercer County Democratic Party. Earlier, he had been elected chairman of the State Democratic Party. Mr. Huntoon made Mr. Coffee's seconding speech.

At its annual re-organization meeting, the Borough County Committee, unanimously adopted a set of by-laws providing for open primaries. They were written by James Britt and Mr. Huntoon. They provide that everyone running for county committee will receive the Democratic party column and slogan. Local candidates will need five votes to win "party column" and seven to gain "party slogan."

The policy, Democrats said, balance the need for party structure and the desire for open competition.

VANDALS ARE BUSY

In Township, Borough. Five acts of vandalism surfaced last week, four in the Township.

An employee of the Princeton Recreation Department, Peter J. Ellis, reported Saturday morning damage to the Community Park tennis courts. Tape had been torn up and a bench thrown in the middle of one court, creating a six-inch hole. Two sprinklers were ripped up and the net of one court was missing (later recovered) and another let down. There was no estimate of the cost of the damage.

Six nails were driven into a six-ply front tire of a backhoe parked last week in the upper lot, Holly House, Princeton Community Village. It was valued at $250.

Owner Edward Bleacher of Tree Care Co., Princeton, told police he discovered the vandalism Saturday morning.

Two cars parked in the driveway of Joshua Shefer, 223 Gallup Road, sustained damage when vandals bent the license plate of both, let the air out of tires and stole two gas caps. Damage: $4.

Last week, a large rock was hurled through a 5-by-7-foot plate glass window on the south side of the Hun School athletic building. Henry Doyle, grounds and building manager, told police that, in addition, a 300-watt floodlight was damaged and that rocks had also been thrown against windows on the north side of the building but none was broken.

In the Borough, Turney Motors, 255 Nassau, reported a hood ornament ($30) and two antennas ($10 each) broken from parked cars. A $50 battery was also removed from a new car.

Welcome, Old Friend!

*The sound of flute
And mowing grass.
The idle clouds
That come and pass.
It's summer!
I'll even take
A little rain,
So long as summer's
Here again.*

Tuesday was summer's first day -- officially, as of 8:41 a.m. Before spring ended, it produced more--and unanticipated--rain on Monday, which gave us about the normal amount for the month with better than a week to go.

Just as well, the Man says, noting that precipitation for spring, 1977, was somewhat below what we usually measure in these parts. As of now, no more rain is forecast for the rest of the week. Temperature readings will range from the high 50s at night to the low 80s by day, with a gradually warming trend in store right through Saturday.

entered during the night through a basement window. The entry was reported at 7:55 Thursday morning.

"We're still in the process of getting an inventory of the exact items taken," Chief Carnevale added. Det. Timothy Huizing and Lt. John Bellow are continuing the investigation.

Attempted Entry. Township police report an attempted entry at the home of Ronald J. Davis, 574 Rosedale Road, between 8:45 a.m. and 1 p.m. last Wednesday.

Police said that a shutter was placed under an outside bathroom window and that holes had been punched in a screen near the latch to attempt an entry. There was also evidence of an attempt to slip the lock of the rear kitchen door. However, no entry was gained, they said.

PARK HERE?

Not Yet. The Medical Center's proposed parking garage has been around the lot several times now, like a car looking for a parking space, and it has at least two more meetings to go.

Last week, the garage occupied both Township Zoning Board and the Planning Board. The Zoning Board will meet this Wednesday at 7:30 in Township Hall and the Planning Board will set aside its usual work session and talk about the garage next Monday at 8 in Borough Hall.

Testimony before the Zoning Board is finished. At Wednesday's meeting, the audience may comment and members of the board ask questions.

A hospital witness, realtor Norman Callaway, startled the Planning Board and most certainly the Medical Center last Thursday, when he said a parking garage would have a greater adverse impact than a black-top parking lot in a residential area. Elizabeth Hutter, from the board, asked whether the impact would be less if the garage were on the Franklin Avenue site, and he said no.

A Medical Center lawyer hastily rose to clarify Mr. Callaway's remark. "True: if a need for parking is considered," Mr. Callaway explained, "a garage wouldn't have a more adverse affect. But that's not what I was asked."

Patients Affected. A former president of the Medical Center's medical staff, Dr. Harvey Rothberg, told the board inadequate parking made it hard to serve patients properly.

James A. Floyd, of nearby Harris Road, asked whether the garage will be tax-exempt as other Medical Center buildings are. A tax-exempt institution, he declared, "is destroying us taxpayers." Parkers will be charged to use the garage.

"This would be a total, blanket variance," he continued, "this garage is a prohibited use in any area of the Township." He urged rejection of the application "in its entirety."

Planning Board members questioned Medical Center assertions that the garage would eliminate curb-side parking, and would cut down pollution because cars would no longer have to re-circulate hunting for a parking space.

"A parking problem now exists," Mr. Callaway pointed out to the board, "and a garage will organize a chaotic situation and help the neighborhood."

He conceded that the project changes the zone plan, but he declared that it was not a detrimental change because the building itself and its landscaping will make the hospital's building complex less visible in the area.

Drainage and lighting requirements for the project, as set forth by the environmental design review board, will be met by the Medical Center, no matter what they are. Center president John Kauffman assured the Planning Board.

The area now between the emergency entrance and the parking areas, will be closed to all but emergency vehicles. In a lengthy discussion, A. Perry Morgan of the environmental board, questioned the reasonableness of the Center's proposed turning radii for ambulances. Mr. Kauffman said he planned to try his own proposal and if it didn't work, would change.

Police Ask for Mediator. Contract negotiations between the Borough police and Borough officials have stalled, but each side maintains it isn't responsible for the impasse.

Ptl. James Agins, chairman of the five-member police negotiating committee, said that the Princeton Patrolmen's Benevolent Association 130, to which Borough police belong, has filed notice of an impasse with the Public Employment Relations Commission (PERC) in Trenton because the Borough has been negotiating without good faith. He claims there has been no face-to-face contact between the two sides since an April 15th meeting.

Borough Administrator Robert Mooney reported that the Borough made a "final offer" May 18 and that police have not responded, although he did confirm that he had talked informally with the police attorney, Howard Golden, two weeks ago. The Borough offer for the years 1977 and 1978 was refused by police, Ptl. Agins said.

At his press conference Tuesday, Mayor Robert Cawley commented: "We felt we'd made an offer responsive to their demands both in dental plan and over-time. Mr. Mooney had communicated 10 days ago with their attorney, saying we were ready when they are."

The Original Requests. In negotiating that began last October, police initially requested a 10 percent wage increase, a dental plan for police and their dependents, time and one-half for all overtime, travel expenses for required police training, better benefits for detectives and money reimbursements for college credits. The Borough, police said, offered a 1.5 percent increase and ignored the other points.

There was an initial meeting December 3 and another on March 18 between the two sides.

In May, the Borough offered

Parade!

Members of Princeton's three volunteer fire companies -- some 150 strong -- will hold their annual parade and inspection this Friday.

Step-off will be at 7 p.m. in front of Engine Number One at Chestnut Street. The line of march will go down Nassau to Borough Hall, where there will be inspection of members and apparatus.

At Borough Hall, there will be dedication ceremonies for a plaque affixed to the building earlier in the year, commemorating Princeton fire-fighters past, present and future. A Bicentennial plaque, it is being dedicated now because delivery was delayed.

a two-year contract, calling for a five percent wage increase for both years, plus in 1977, time and one-half for football traffic duty and time and one-half for all other overtime duty after the first hour.

In addition to the wage increase, two round trips for in-service schooling and a dental plan for employees only.

One-year Contract Sought.

Ptl. Agins said the police agreed to the wage offer of five percent for 1977 but still wanted a dental plan to include all dependents and time and one-half for all overtime, including in-service training.

Police are seeking only a one-year contract. "We wanted a two year contract but they wouldn't give us anything to stand on," said Ptl. Agins.

The application for a state mediator is the second time Borough police have turned to PERC -- both in the past year. The first was over a change in work hours which police maintained, created a hardship for officers and their families. That hasn't been resolved and is still in the process of arbitration, Ptl. Agins reported.

Last year, police and borough officials reached a contract agreement in May. Township police reached an agreement this month over a 1977 contract with Township officials.

Other members of the Borough police negotiating committee are Sgt. Ralph Procaccino, Ptl. Donald Alston, Ptl. Peter Hanley and Ptl. John Holcombe. For the Borough, Mayor Cawley, Police Commissioner Richard Woodbridge and Mr. Mooney.

PLANS MOVE AHEAD

For University Conversions. Princeton University's plans to convert the row of houses across from Davidson's to shops and apartments, and to re-locate four old houses on William Street, have received "major" classification from the Planning Board's site plan review committee.

This means that full reports on such matters as drainage will be laid before the Planning Board for discussion. The "major" classification was sought by the University because of the variety of uses in the Nassau-William package. Uses encompass parking, conversions, re-locations and so on. The area was recently changed by Borough Council to an NB-

Neighborhood-Business zone -- at University request.

The University will need, besides site plan approval, two bulk variances. One relates to the distance between windows of habitable rooms and nearby structures, and the other to the distance between buildings. The University also needs a conditional use approval connected to access-ways to the re-located houses.

It is expected that the package will be on the Planning Board's agenda for July 5.

DOCTOR IS CHARGED

With Larceny. A Marlton eye doctor has been charged with the April 14 theft of 15 sets of contact lenses from an office in the Princeton Medical Arts Building, 253 Witherspoon Street. The lenses are valued at $525.

According to police, Dr. Bernard D. Miskiv, 30, walked into the office under the pretense of using to make a correction in his own contact lens. He then allegedly entered a storage area where the lenses were kept and made off with them.

Arrested Thursday at the Freehold Township police department by Det. Ronald Holliday of the Borough police, Dr. Miskiv was later released in his own recognizance, pending his appearance in court. His arrest was the result of an investigation by Det. Holliday.

TWO YOUTHS CHARGED

In Dillon Gym Thefts. Two Kendall Park teenagers, who police said worked together, have been charged with a series of larcenies from lockers in Dillon Gym.

William McCallum, 18, of New Road, has been charged with three counts of larceny while a 16-year-old companion has been charged with larceny from 10 lockers. Police report that the 16-year old had a master key to the lockers in his possession which they have recovered. McCallum is scheduled to appear in court next Wednesday.

NAMED FELLOWS

By Rotary Club. The Rotary Club has honored two of its members by naming them Paul Harris Fellows. In making $1000 contributions to the Rotary Foundation in the names of B.E. Bergesen Jr. and Robert Popino the organization raised to five the total number of Paul Harris Fellows in its current ranks. Previously honored were Arthur Curtiss, Paul Cheshro and William Dettmar.

Contributions to the Rotary Foundation are used to further a program of promoting international understanding and good will through the award of scholarships for study abroad. Each year, qualified candidates are selected for such study in any of four categories: undergraduate scholarships, graduate fellowships, technical training and teachers of the handicapped.

Both Mr. Bergesen, who lives at 140 Crestview Drive and Mr. Popino, who resides on Mill Road, Grovers Mill, are past presidents of Rotary.

familiar items on this week's theft report culled from the police docket but a new one had been added: milk.

A customer last week told Dick McDaniel, assistant manager at the A & P in the Princeton Shopping Center, that a man driving a small, grey station wagon had taken 10 plastic milk cartons from a loading area and driven away. The cartons were valued at $5 each.

5:45 Friday in Firestone Library.

Two matched stereo speakers valued at $200 each were reported stolen Monday from the first floor of Ivy Club, 43 Prospect Avenue, and a South Brunswick Township resident listed the theft of a $300 calculator taken from his unlocked car while it was parked in the First National Bank lot at 370 Nassau Street.

Two clarinets in cases were stolen last week during the last day of school at Hun. One owned by Jonathan Fabian, 215 Brookstone Drive, was valued at $200; the other, owned by Emily Spanel, 69 Laurel Road, at $100.

Music teacher Frank Jacobson told police school had been dismissed for the year at 12:30 and that maintenance crews had begun cleaning out students' lockers around 2. Two maintenance men report placing the Fabian clarinet on top of his locker at 2:15.

Bike Recovered. A Honda trail bike valued at $501.90 was stolen late Saturday night, two hours after owner Ercole Carnevale, 30 Harris Road, had secured it by a wire in his garage.

He discovered the wire and bike missing at 11 but the bike was later found abandoned on the west side of Princeton High School.

William Wickes of Hibben Apartments listed the theft of his fiberglass canoe with a Princeton Tiger decal on its prow. Valued at $150 to $200, the canoe had been fastened by a cable to a tree in the rear of the apartment complex.

Joan Kahn, 20 Linden Lane, lost her green leather wallet containing $10 to a thief Saturday while she was at the Community Park pool, and Ann Smith, 198 Linden Lane, told police that three wooden director's chairs were stolen from her front porch between 9 Sunday night and 8 Monday morning. Their value: $127.50.

A $90 pocket calculator and two cassette recorders were taken from the main working area of the office of Collins, Uhl, Hoisington, Anderson and Azmy, an architect, engineering and planning firm at 45 State Road.

Mr. Hoisington told police that he had come to work Saturday morning about 7 and had noticed the front door open but he did not discover anything missing until Monday morning. Police said the building was entered through an unlocked front door.

$600 Camera Taken. Borough police report that a Princeton University student had his $600 Nikon camera and his wallet containing $20 stolen when he left them unattended between 5:30 and

...and More Bicycle Thefts. A Princeton resident had his yellow 10-speed bicycle stolen last week from the University campus -- it was valued at $160 -- while a Princeton Avenue resident reported the theft of two bikes -- a boys 3-speed and girls 3-speed from their garage.

A Pennington resident might as well have had his bicycle stolen.

After a thief had stripped it of its seat, gear shifter, brakes, pedals, derailleur and rear baskets, all that was left of the 10-speed model, police said, was the frame. The looting amounted to $183. It was stripped while parked in the Uptown Garage at 2 Nassau Street.

STOLEN CAR FOUND

In PDS Pond. A car stolen last Tuesday from the driveway of John Reid, 26 Westcott Road, was recovered Sunday from a pond on the Princeton Day School campus.

According to Township police, a Lawrence Township resident, 16-year old Bruce Litton saw the roof of the car approximately 12 inches under water while he was fishing in the northern most pond on the PDS property. The car, a 1969 Jeep station wagon, was approximately 35 feet from the bank.

Litton went to the residence of the school's headmaster, where Mrs. Doug McClure called police.

Ptl. James Vandermark, who responded, said that the car had apparently been positioned on a dirt driveway and a large, full bottle of water, the type used in water coolers, had been placed on top of the accelerator pedal. The key was in the ignition, police said.

A wrecker was called to remove the car and the owner was notified of the recovery by Ptl. Bernard Lenhardt.

Bomb Threat Made

The call to Borough police headquarters came at 12:23 Monday afternoon. "I put a bomb in 20 Nassau to blow the f... place up," the voice said. Capt. Theodore Lewis, Lt. John Bellow, Sgt. NOT THIS TIME

Rock Throwers Apprehended. Four Ewing teenagers, two 14, two 13, were apprehended last week as they were throwing rocks toward the roadway at the intersection of Washington Road and Faculty Drive.

Joseph P. Kokesh, 7 Colonial Avenue, Princeton Junction, told police he was a passenger in his brother-in-law's car as it approached the intersection Saturday afternoon. He noticed a group of boys on a hill adjacent to Washington Road throwing rocks toward the roadway, he said.

When one of the rocks struck the hood of their station wagon, the driver, Robert Cowan, 4640 Provinceline Road, stopped and Mr. Kokesh gave chase. He apprehended the youths on the University campus and campus police were called.

The four were later turned over to the Township juvenile officer for processing.

GIBBS & HILL: WAIT

No Zoning Amendments. Gibbs & Hill, the developers who want to construct housing in the northern part of the Township, were told by Township Committee last Wednesday that they would have to wait until the housing master plan has been completed.

No zoning amendments will be introduced to accommodate the developers, Committee decided. Gibbs & Hill had made such a request, pointing out that they have been waiting several years for the housing plan to be completed.

Committee also heard assistant engineer Bhagwan Das outline a plan for controlling traffic in front of the Somerset Farms-Workbench building on Route 206. Mr. Das proposes eliminating parking altogether in front of the building and creating defined entrances and exits to the adjoining parking lot.

The proposal has been sent for comment to Philip Collins, who owns the building, and to the Traffic Safety Committee.

At a special work session this Thursday (8 p.m., Township Hall), Committee will talk once again about the amphitheatre on the north side of Community Park, and will consider the request to provide tennis court lighting in the capital budget.

Committee will discuss possible condemnation proceeds in connection with construction of The Great Road bike path, and will continue to talk about amending the liquor law to cover serving liquor at benefits.

Flood plain ordinance amendments and various flood control and erosion matters will be discussed with General William Whipple at 9 p.m.

DRIVER FINED $510

For 2d Drunk Driving Offense. Charged with his second offense of drunken driving, Joseph J. Regencye of Skillman was fined $510 Thursday by Judge Philip Carchman in Township Court. In addition, he lost his license for 18 months, was ordered to attend the AA program for one year and received a one-day suspended jail sentence.

Dorothy Krebs, Wertsville-Zion Road, Skillman, and William Uhl, 4277 Port Mercer Road, were fined $30 and $25 for careless driving. Speeding cost David E. Lowe, 2 Wycombe Way, Princeton Junction, $31, while Brian Shannon, 103 Patton Avenue, paid $30 for failure to keep right.

In Borough court Monday, Judge Carchman fined four for speeding: Paul W. Ader of Skillman and John H. Gioda, $30, unlicensed driver; Dennis 27 Berkshire Drive, Princeton S. O'Leary, New Grad Junction, each paid $15; College, $35, leaving the scene of an accident, and Horace Thomas B. Judge, 640 Prospect Avenue, paid $16, Greeley, Fairview Road, and Ellen S. FIN WHALE SURFACING: Charles Neider of 24 Southern Way took this photograph while on a three-month tour of Antarctica this winter. Mr. Neider says, "A fin is second only to the blue whale in size. It's about 75 feet long. The fin was photographed about ten miles north of McMurdo Station in Antarctica (at a latitude of almost 78 South, about 850 statute miles from the Pole) as it came up for air. "It had made its way from the open sea through and under a channel cut by icebreakers to resupply the station. I was standing on an ice floe when I took the photograph so close to the whale that my shadow could easily have fallen across it. This is possibly the southernmost fin ever sighted." Mr. Neider was recently appointed a Fellow of the Center for Advanced Study in the Behavioral Sciences in Stanford, California for the academic year beginning in September. He will continue his Antarctic studies while at the Center. He has also been designated a Fellow of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

New Jersey Poll Shows President Carter Wins Approval of 58 Percent of State's Residents

Most New Jerseyans continue to give President Carter high marks for his job performance, including his handling of the economy, energy, and foreign policy, according to the latest Eagleton Poll.

The statewide survey finds that 58 percent of New Jerseyans give the President a positive rating of "excellent" or "good," while only 32 percent evaluate him negatively as "only fair" or "poor." The remaining 9 percent are undecided.

Carter's rating is virtually unchanged since April, but is down somewhat from initial Poll soundings in late January, when 68 percent evaluated him positively, 23 percent rated him negatively, and 10 percent were undecided.

Partisanship is clearly influencing the President's performance rating. Carter is most popular among Democrats, with 68 percent rating him positively and 25 percent rating him negatively. Independents are 56 percent positive and 35 percent negative. Republicans are more evenly divided in their evaluation of Carter, with 45 percent rating him positively, and 46 percent rating him negatively.

While the President is still benefiting, to some extent, from the traditional "honeymoon" effect, his standing is boosted by widespread voter approval of his general economic and energy policies and his conduct of foreign policy. Garden Staters approve of Carter's handling of foreign affairs by a margin of 58 percent to 23 percent, while they endorse his economic policies by an almost identical margin of 60 percent to 23 percent.

Voter approval in both policy areas is up slightly from April, when 56 percent endorsed both his economic and foreign policy efforts. Poll analyst Mark Schulman commented that, "Several factors may have contributed to maintaining and even enhancing his approval ratings in May, including a somewhat improved economic picture, the President's economic summit conference in London, and a number of domestic legislative proposals, including basic Social Security reform."

Carter's handling of the nation's energy problems also earn him majority support, with 54 percent approving of his efforts and 33 percent opposed. The President's energy program, with recommendations for increased taxes on "gas guzzler" cars and tax credits for the installation of improved insulation and energy saving devices, was introduced in late April.

Mr. Schulman noted, by contrast, that President Ford's performance rating in New Jersey never rose above the 38 percent positive mark received just after he took office and pardoned Richard Nixon. Plagued by a sagging economy and the aftermath of Watergate, Ford's handling of the economy was never approved by more than 39 percent, while his foreign policy efforts peaked at 51 percent approval.

The Eagleton Poll is conducted regularly throughout the year by the Eagleton Institute of Politics at Rutgers University. The latest poll is based on a scientifically-selected random sample of 1207 adults, 18 years and older, interviewed by telephone.

Senior Resource Center on Spruce Circle, followed by a visit to Holly House in Princeton Community Village and capped by a ribbon cutting ceremony at Mt. Pisgah A.M.E. Church, 170 Wither-spoon Street, at noon. That is the time when the County Nutrition program offers free hot lunches daily at the church to senior citizens.

The mobile market will be on display only on these visits. Although it will be stocked with staples and household needs at slightly above wholesale prices, it will not be open for business for another week or so. The visits are planned to acquaint those who will be using it with the merchandise and to solicit their comments as to what further items it should carry. Only those carrying ID cards entitling them to use the market will be allowed to purchase from it.

NIGHT PROGRAM SET

At Watersheds Association. The Stony Brook-Millstone

Watersheds Association will hold a summer program for fifth and sixth graders July 25-29 and for seventh and eighth graders August 1-5.

Participants will learn orienteering and mapping. They will build their own shelters and stay in them overnight. They will cook in a solar oven, explore the land and the relationship between themselves and their world.

For further information, call Lucille Bertuccio, program director, 737-3735.

LIBRARY TO SHOW FILM

Library Expansion Supported.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am very much in favor of the Borough Council-Township Committee decision favoring expansion of the children's section of the public library over improvement of Little League facilities. It is not a matter of "favoring the intellectual child."

It is a matter of giving all children the possibility of having the best jobs as adults and scoring in a career rather than just on the ball field. We all know that the child who reads well and builds a good vocabulary can succeed faster than the poor reader or non-reader.

In this era, with television deadening the imaginations and creative impulses of young children we need desperately to appeal to any reading interests they might have. Children are becoming increasingly illiterate as TV gains more and more ground in their lives.

Let us repair the damage that TV has done by encouraging our children to be good readers and ensuring, thereby, that they will be successful and productive adults. My hat is off to the Borough Council-Township Committee decision!

should at least support P-1 and P-2 level research so the University won't have to wait over the summer. This was no part of the charge given to the committee by the Borough Council and Township Committee, which charge had to do with the health, safety and welfare of our communities.

As the committee's Minority Report delineates, and as much expert testimony supports, there remains a great deal of doubt as to just where this research is leading us, possible hazards along the way, and the effectiveness of the National Institutes of Health guidelines themselves (not to mention their implementation by researchers who consider their work more important than safety restrictions). Until these doubts are effectively resolved, I feel we should make haste slowly - nature's way. There is a strong need for a prestigious University town to take this stand and declare a moratorium on further research until the attendant problems can be more carefully appraised - with substantive input from knowledgeable non-scientists who have no axes to grind other than benefit to their local and world communities.

Postpone DNA Research.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
Is Princeton just another 'company town'? This question deserves serious consideration in light of the current recombinant DNA debate.

At last Tuesday's meeting Mrs. Fremon, Chairperson of the Princeton Community Biohazard Committee and signer of the committee's Majority Report, recommended that the Borough and Township governing bodies

DNA Agreement Broken.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
In asking permission to conduct DNA research on the P1 & P2 containment levels, Princeton University has violated its agreement with this community.

For more than three months the Biohazards Committee, acting in good faith, has seriously - and at large personal sacrifice on the part of many members - struggled with the technicalities of new P3 facilities. Now the University, with a cynicism that would make an Arizona land developer blush, is pushing to begin DNA research in its present laboratories and under ordinary conditions.

We are told that Professors Robert May and Edward Cox are impatient, they have been inconvenienced, their summer schedules will be disrupted by any delay! This unconscionable arrogance is maintained in spite of the fact that the University proposal assaults the safety and welfare of more than 25,000 residents.

Please note also that the true subject of this public contention is DNA research itself. The pretence that P1 conditions are those of a high school laboratory, and that P2 conditions exist at the medical center, ignores the DNA factor - a deliberate misrepresentation of fact.

Therefore, I call on the University to repudiate its representatives. The Princeton community has a right in these important public matters to expect, at the least, candor and honesty from the University, not cynical manipulation.

Again, I ask of the governing bodies that all DNA research be delayed until we have more evidence. There is no practical way in which this community can control the possible resultant dangers of this research - especially under P1 and P2 conditions.

Lest we forget: it is the scientific experts who have given us thalidomide, PCB, PBB, radioactive wastes, and DDT - not to mention Hiroshima, Nagasaki and the defoliants of Vietnam.

Vote on Consolidation Urged.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Following is the text of a letter which the League of Women Voters of the Princeton area has sent to Mayors Cawley and Hall:

The League of Women Voters of the Princeton Area endorses the recommendation for consolidation of Princeton Borough and Princeton Township, embodied in the Report of the Joint Consolidation Committee of Princeton. This represents a reaffirmation of support for consolidation of the two municipalities, a position which the League has held for many years.

For the past several months we have been engaged in a study of the Report. As a result of this most recent study we remain convinced by over a long period of time, in promptly. Thank you for your preparing this comprehensive attention.

HARRIET BRYAN P.O. Box 100
President Jung-Ang

Pen Pals Wanted.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
I am a girl, fifteen years old, presently attending a high school in Seoul, Korea. In my country we are taught the English language from the first year of junior high school as the most important required subject. To improve our English, we practice not only in the regular class but also through our English Club, of which I am now the leader.

My English teacher told me that letter writing would be a great help for improving our English and suggested that I write to you on behalf of the boys and girls in my school. Many of them would like to exchange letters with American boys and girls. Therefore, we would very much appreciate your putting this letter into your newspaper.

Through the letters we hope to learn more about your customs, student life, and many other things, too. Of course we will have the pleasure of introducing our ways as well while improving our English skills.

So if you can print our request in your paper, we shall eagerly look forward to receiving letters from your country and will answer them the arguments in favor of consolidation and feel that it is vital to a better functioning of local government in our community. We agree with the Report, which states on page 2:

"We believe that Princeton Borough and Princeton Township should take the step which has been under consideration for so long in our community and consolidate into one municipality with boundaries only at the present Township line. It is generally agreed by the citizens of the 'two Princetons' that we are one community in all important respects except for our separate government structures. We move freely back and forth across the present boundary line for social, commercial, educational and religious purposes, to name a few, without awareness of the line. The line only comes into play for governmental and tax purposes."

We find the analysis in the Report of the problems of the joint agencies persuasive. The members of the governing bodies and advisory boards, all volunteers, deal with a cumbersome structure and spend long hours in joint and often unproductive consultation. We commend the Joint Consolidation Committee for its careful analysis of the economies which would result from the elimination under consolidation of the duplication of operating departments.

We hope that the question of consolidation can be considered by the Princeton community in the near future at a time when the tax rates of the Borough and Township are approximately equal, as recommended in the Report. We wish to thank the governing bodies for their foresight in appointing the Joint Consolidation Committee. Most especially, thanks are due to all of the members of the Committee for their efforts,

PEOPLE In The News

Princeton is discussed briefly in a book called "Good Neighborhood: The Challenge of Open Housing," written by Morris Milgram and published this spring by W.W. Norton & Company, Inc. Mr. Milgram is a pioneer of integrated housing and helped Princeton Housing Associates build Glen Acres on Alexander Road and Maple Crest, a 25 unit development near the Princeton Shopping Center in the 1950's.

Mr. Milgram writes that "Radically integrated housing is not only an ideal and therefore morally good, but its creation and maintenance are the most practical way to pursue our national health, both socially and economically." He explains how to form an integrated community and how to stabilize it to prevent resegregation. He disproves the old myth that property values decline with integration and discusses the financial aspects of promoting such housing.

Named to the Dean's List at Bates College in Lewiston, Me., for the second semester were Elizabeth K. Fischer, '78, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Fischer of 298 Snowden Lane and Jean A. Metzger, '79, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Metzger of 7 Monroe Court, South Brunswick. Miss Metzger had a 4.0 quality point ratio.

Richard S. Guzy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stefan Guzy of 11 Canoe Brook Drive, Princeton Junction, has been named to the Dean's List for the spring semester at Clemson University in Clemson, S.C.

Two area residents have received research and teaching aids from the New Jersey Historical Commission. Gledhill Cameron Zapolski of 30 Olden Lane received a grant-in-aid with which to complete a full scale biography of Paul Robeson. Her book will emphasize Robeson's background and early life in Princeton, where his father, the Rev. William D. Robeson came as minister of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church in 1879.

Mrs. Zapolski is under contract to Viking Press, and she expects to submit the completed manuscript in December.

Navy Seaman Richard M. Probasco, son of Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Probasco of 70 Lillie Street, Princeton Junction, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego. A 1973 graduate of Princeton High School, he attended Rollins College, Winter Park, Fla., and joined the Navy in March 1977.

Christine Berry of South Main Street, Pennington, was one of 18 teachers to receive a grant-in-aid for a teaching project in New Jersey history. She conceived her project, construction of a small Lenni Lenape village, as a method to deepen students' understanding of an earlier New Jersey culture by identifying with its way of life and its ingenuity in meeting daily needs.

Besides the full-scale construction of a bighouse and three wigwams, the project includes preparing food, making pottery, tools, jewelry and masks in the manner of the Lenni Lenape and learning games of skill, folklore and a sampling of Lenni Lenape language.

Martha Batchelor, daughter of Mrs. Shirley S. Batchelor of 261 State Road, is a member of the Wheaton College Glee Club in Norton, Mass., that is currently on a two week tour of Venezuela.

Jeannine Edelblut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Edelblut, 160 Fisher Place, has been named to the Dean's List at St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y. for academic achievement during the spring term.

Five area residents will attend St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y. in the fall. They are Anne P. Dennison, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Dennison of 11 Haslet Avenue; Amy L. Drezner, daughter of Mrs. Kim Drezner of Cherrybrook Drive; William L. Sparrow, son of Dr. and Mrs. Frank A. Sparrow of 225 Hun Road.

Also Patricia A. Thurman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Thurman of 9 East Curlys Avenue, Pennington, and Thomas J. McDowell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. McDowell of Bedens Brook Road, Skillman.

Bernard S. Chen of 136 Clover Lane and Karen Liu of 110 Prospect Avenue, both juniors at Princeton High School, received Howard Crosby Warren awards at the High School assembly. The $50 cash award is given to a boy and a girl in the freshman, sophomore and junior classes who excel in both mathematics and science. This is the third consecutive year in which Bernard and Karen have received the award.

Hazel Henderson of 60 Hodge Road is cited by Ralph Nader in the July issue of "Ladies Home Journal" for her self-initiated campaign that persuaded the Federal Communications Commission and television stations to broadcast the daily air pollution index. Up to then the index had been kept by New York City officials but not published.

A resident of New York City in the 1960's, Mrs. Henderson became concerned about the quality of the city's air and dismayed at "how filthy and covered with soot" her young daughter could get in a sandbox. She began reading about the subject and helped form Citizens for Clean Air which quickly amassed a membership of 24,000. Since then, the article continues, Mrs. Henderson "has become a full-time spokeswoman for a common sense approach to frequently obfuscated issues such as the energy crisis."

Princeton University's Associate Dean of Student Affairs Halcyone H. Bohen has been awarded a Presidential Fellowship by the Aspen Institute for Humanistic Studies and will participate in a two-week international seminar at the Institute's summer headquarters in Colorado to consider historical perspectives on male and female roles in U.S. society. The seminar will be held in Aspen July 17-31.

Dean Bohen, who came to the University in 1969 as assistant dean of student affairs, had particular responsibility in the area of women's education during the first years of coeducation. She was creator of the Resident Adviser program, which trains and places juniors, seniors and graduate students in predominantly underclass dormitories to serve as counselors to freshmen.

She will leave the University at the end of this month to take up residence with her family in Washington, D.C. Her husband, Frederick M. Bohen, is currently executive secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. He is a former assistant dean of Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs.

Three lecturers at Princeton University have been promoted to assistant professor in three-year appointments effective July 1. They are Michael Mitchell of Princeton Inn College and the Department of Politics; Pietro Frassica of 120 Prospect Avenue who teaches Romance Languages and literatures, and Cordelia Reimers who teaches economic and public affairs in the Woodrow Wilson School.

TRIP TO SHORE SET

By Art Association. The Princeton Art Association will offer an excursion-workshop Tuesday on the theme "Painting At The Shore." The group will leave Princeton at 9 a.m. and travel to Belford, a commercial fishing village on the North Jersey shore, where painter Nicholas Reale will teach a workshop.

Mr. Reale, winner of many awards for his paintings, has exhibited his work at the Metropolitan Museum in New York and the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts in Philadelphia. He will work closely with a small group, no more than 25. There will be a critique at the end of the day, after which the group will return to Princeton at 4:30.

The trip is open to all, on a first-come, first-served basis. Those interested should call the Art Association on Rosedale Road, 921-9173. The fee for the trip is $16.

FORUM SATURDAY

On "208" Implementation. Local government officials and community leaders concerned with implementation of the "208" water quality management plans now reaching a critical stage will participate in a forum discussion of the "Challenge of 208 to Local Land Use Authority" on Saturday at Woodrow Wilson Hall. The session, sponsored by the Mercer County League of Women Voters, starts at 9 and will conclude at noon.

"Municipal officials, through their planning and zoning decisions, will be playing a key role in the nationwide effort to ensure that all the means for reducing and preventing pollution are marshalled to bring about 'fishable, swimmable waters by 1983,'" Mrs. Jessamine Merrill, Mercer County League 208 Task Force director, said. "Saturday's session is an opportunity for local leaders to learn of possible solutions to water pollution problems and to react to their feasibility in the Mercer County area while the standards and procedures are in formation."

Dr. David L. Morell, author of a recent article on citizen involvement in "Environmental Comment," will begin the morning session with a talk on the Forum theme. Discussants will include the acting chairman of the Mercer County Planning Board, a consultant in public administration, the director of the Water Resources Research Institute at Rutgers University, and a local director of public works.

The Mercer County League welcomes the participation of all interested citizens in this discussion of problems and alternatives. Although there is no charge for this meeting, the League hopes those planning to attend will call Mrs. Merrill, 882-7464, or any local League president so that proper arrangements may be made.

FEE NOW REQUIRED

For Instructional Swim. The Princeton Recreation Department will again offer an instructional swimming program at Community Park Pool during the summer but this year it will charge for participation in each four-week session. The instructional format is identical to last year's. An evaluation session will be held this Wednesday through Friday from 9:30 - 11:30. Children six or over are asked to come to the pool with bathing suit in order to be properly placed in a class. Classes are held Monday - Friday between 10 and 12 noon. Lasting approximately 40 minutes in length, they range from beginner through intermediate.

The first session will begin Monday and end July 22. The second session will begin August 1 and run through August 20.

For additional information, call 921-9480.

IT'S NEW To Us

NEW OWNERS, NEW IDEAS
At Studio 12. Whenever a store changes hands, its customers wonder whether their favorite lines will be continued, or if not, whether they'll like the replacements. In the case of Studio 12, which was purchased last January by Johanna and Ron Wood, a middle line has been followed and the result is an open, vibrant store with many of the classic Scandinavian lines still very much in evidence.

However, by adding a selection of new and interesting merchandise, the Woods have created a more contemporary note in their store. The most obvious addition — and a successful one — is wicker in all shapes and sizes. Not only are these pieces popular, but also they have given the store a more informal appearance.

The choice is enormous, ranging from small natural wicker shells to hang on a wall, to a graceful peacock-backed chaise lounge, $2.50 to $255. In between, we saw mirrors, wall cabinets, chests, boxes, a baby basket, a dome-shaped cat house, tables, magazine racks, a hanging chair and much more.

The parch furniture, of course, is a classic that will give years of enjoyment, and many pieces other than those on display can be ordered. The choice also includes bamboo and rattan designs, and white is often available as well as the natural.

One-of-a-Kind Jewelry. The jewelry is mainly contemporary, with unusual pieces highlighted. "We hope to achieve the one-of-a-kind idea, so that eventually people would come here looking for such," Mrs. Wood commented.

Presently, there is a group of charming scrimshaw pieces by the Alaskan Silver and Ivory Co. Using fossilized ivory from either mastodon or walrus tusks that have been buried for years, each piece is handcarved and then signed.

All the scrimshaw is set in sterling silver, some of which has been handwrought; and the choices include a blue butterfly scrimshaw ring, an open cuff bracelet with a handsome black lion engraved in the ivory, or a pendant with an appealing black walrus, $60 to $170.

We also liked Studio 12's Italian coral necklaces, bold contemporary sterling jewelry by Jack Woolsey, and the wide choice of 18 kt. gold chains in all lengths.

Not all the changes in the store are large ones, however. For instance, the Woods have added some marvelous kites from all over the world, ranging in price from $2.85 for a floral butterfly to about $29.50 for a Chinese bird kite that is actually a bright red eight-pointed figure with three long ribbon streamers. Other choices include dragons, fish and war kites.

Children's Corner. There is a small children's corner too with handsome hand-crafted wooden toys from Vermont. There are small tractors and trucks, priced from $5.75, but most spectacular are the carnival rides such as a merry-go-round and ferris wheel filled with peg people, $30 and $57.50.

In addition, we saw figurines from several childhood classics such as the Beatrix Potter ones, Winnie the Pooh, and Alice in Wonderland, $6.75 to $19.95.

Studio 12 has always had a gourmet cookware area, but now it is larger than ever. Still important are the Danish wooden carving and hors d'oeuvre boards, but this section has been given a contemporary note too.

Now there are brightly colored vinyl aprons, serving dishes that speak to you such as a platter with "Bon Appetit" written across the center, gift boxes of Thompson's excellent black pepper and salt gems with grinders, and appealing after-dinner coffee sets.

Future plans include the completion of an art gallery on the second floor. Works by several well-known local artists such as Judi Niemann, Dorla Dean Sider and Susan Swartz are already on exhibit and more will be coming.

Pottery will also be displayed, and Studio 12 currently carries the work of five or six artisans. It is quite varied ranging from ceramic muffin tins by Rock Brook potters — which by the way include recipes for whole wheat walnut muffins and popovers — to a lovely large highly glazed dark blue flat bowl by Dina, $18 and $54 respectively.

Dina does make less expensive pieces too such as mugs, cream and sugars, and a practical cup with a pouring spout, $3.50 to $8.

We particularly liked Hirsch's work which included a fat honey jar with a dipper and a set of cork-topped canisters leaning gracefully to one side — all glazed in earth tones with a swirl of color around each piece, $12 to $47 for the four canisters. Other choices include Bill Clark's hand-thrown pottery and E. Berry Jones' stoneware colanders.

As mentioned before, many old favorites remain. There is glassware by Iittala, Boda and Kosta, Royal Holland pewter; Royal Copenhagen figurines as well as the Baca line of contemporary pieces, and the almost indestructible Courco trays.

Located at the Montgomery Shopping Center on Route 206 North, Studio 12 is open Monday through Saturday from 10 until 6, with Thursday and Friday evening hours until 9.

Weathersby to Retire, Bunnell to Return To Teaching at University in June 1978

William H. Weathersby

Peter C. Bunnell

Princeton University has announced that its vice-president for public affairs and its Art Museum director will step down from their respective posts effective June 30, 1978. William H. Weathersby will retire from the public affairs position and Peter C. Bunnell will return to full-time teaching and research, relinquishing his administrative duties at the Art Museum.

As vice-president for public affairs, Mr. Weathersby has advised Princeton Presidents William G. Bowen and Robert F. Goheen on all policy matters related to communications and public and governmental affairs. Since coming to Princeton in 1970, he has also had administrative oversight of the offices of the Alumni Council, Communications, Publications, Community and Regional Affairs, and the Princeton University Conference.

The former deputy director for policy and planning of the United States Information Agency, Mr. Weathersby was the ranking career officer in the USIA at the time of his appointment at Princeton. He had previously served as a career minister in the Foreign Service and was the 1970 recipient of the Edward R. Murrow Award for Excellence in Public Diplomacy. A search for his successor is being conducted on behalf of the president by A.J. Maruca, vice-president for administrative affairs.

Prof. Bunnell, who has served as director of the Art Museum since the fall of 1973, will return next year to full-time teaching and research in the Department of Art and Archaeology. As McAlpin Professor of the History of Photography and Modern Art, he will devote a major share of his time to developing the university's program in the history and criticism of photography, as well as to the task of building and cataloging the university's growing photographic archive. In commenting on his decision to conclude his directorship of the Art Museum, Bunnell said that he will end his five-year term in order to "give greater emphasis to his teaching and scholarship and also to his position as Faculty Curator of Photography."

During his tenure, the museum has made a number of significant acquisitions and has presented several impressive exhibitions. "Equally important," noted Provost-Designate Neil L. Rudenstine, "the relationship between the Museum's program and the teaching program of the Art Department has been very effectively coordinated."

Mr. Rudenstine will organize a search for Prof. Bunnell's successor as director of the museum and has invited recommendations of candidates for the position. These may be sent directly to Mr. Rudenstine at 3 Nassau Hall.

BIKE RIDES TO RESUME

In West Windsor Saturday, Family Bike Rides will resume this weekend in West Windsor under guidance of the Recreation Commission.

The first ride of the 1977 summer series will be a short "Warm-up and Introductory Ride" on Saturday, leaving the Maurice Hawk School at 10. This ride is designed both as an introduction to group bicycle touring for those who might be reluctant to start with one of the longer rides of the series, and as a "shake-down" ride for bicyclists and bicycles that might have gotten rusty over the winter.

Family Bike Rides are conducted each summer by the Bicycle Committee of the West Windsor Recreation Commission, and, according to former committee member Arthur Kahn, are "designed to provide exercise, visit locations in the township which would not usually be visited, and explain and interest residents in the beauty of the surrounding countryside."

SWIMMING PROGRAM SET

In West Windsor, The West Windsor Recreation Commission will offer a comprehensive evening swim program this summer to any West Windsor-Plainsboro resident and a one day water safety course in mid-July.

Adult swimming lessons will be held on Monday and Thursday evenings, from 8-9 in the high school pool, starting this Monday with a $1 registration fee. A free adult swim will follow from 9-10 for the pool's capacity of 90 adults on a first come, first served basis.

Family swim nights will begin on Wednesday, June 29, between 7 and 9, and will be held every Wednesday and Friday night through August 17. A $1 fee will be charged per family. Again the pool limit is 90 persons, and admission will be on a first come, first served basis.

The Commission will sponsor a basic water safety course Saturday, July 16, from 1-5. The course is free and open to anyone of any age with any or no aquatic background. Those interested should sign up in advance at the municipal building.

The program will cover elementary forms of rescue, artificial respiration and boating safety. The water rescue section will demonstrate ways to rescue a drowning person safely and the equipment that may be improvised for a home pool or beach. The artificial respiration section will be handled by the Twin W First Aid Squad which will demonstrate all aspects of respiration.

NEW OFFICE OPENED

By Firestone Real Estate. Firestone Real Estate of 173 Nassau Street opened its first branch office at 907 State Road Monday to serve the greater Montgomery Township area. Mrs. Joan Grandner, who lives on Sunset Road in Montgomery, will serve as the broker-manager for the new office.

The opening of the branch office, following the firm's founding in 1973, proved a logical step when Firestone was able to report that it has almost doubled its gross sales every 12 months despite the recession years of 1974 and '75.

James Firestone, the owner-broker who is a former college professor, said, "Real estate impressed me as a field that could be improved significantly as a profession. Buying or selling a home represents the biggest monetary decision most people will ever make. Helping a person make that decision is an important public service -- so important that we should have only the highest standards for those associates entering the field."

"In my firm," Firestone continued, "we offer straight talk, and expert, intelligent advice tailored to each client's particular needs. Each sales associate is carefully selected and then carefully trained to be knowledgeable and helpful about a wide range of real estate topics."

In explaining the choice of location for this first branch office, Joan Grandner commented:

"We are quite excited about Montgomery Township. We've done extremely well there. It's a beautiful place to live, and we chose the State Road location right across the line from Princeton in order to be the first to attract the Princeton buyer, who will usually know what he likes. Montgomery is a growing township, and Firestone wants to grow with it."

"Our range of services includes all multiple listing systems in the area including Somerset, Mercer, and the Princeton Real Estate Group. And we will also guarantee our services in writing to all owners of property who list with us."

Joining Mrs. Grandner at the new Montgomery office as sales associates are Sue Ann Snyder, Joy Barth, Anna Mae Bach, Joyce Panitz and Kathy Zucchini. Firestone is currently interviewing for several new positions.

Civil Rights Commission Seeks to Protect Minorities, Women If Job Cutbacks Occur

The Princeton Joint Commission on Civil Rights said this week it "is concerned that the current economic recession may seriously erode the progress of minorities and of women in achieving full equal employment opportunity. It would be tragic," the Commission declares, "if employers' budget cuts and lay-offs would result in minority groups and women suffering job losses out of proportion to their numbers in the work force."

The Commission seeks to encourage Princeton employers who may be faced with the need to make budget cuts to do so within a framework dealing equitably with all workers. Insuring that work force reductions do not have a discriminatory impact is more than just a civic duty, the statement asserts, it may well be a legal obligation in the light of recent court decisions.

With this in mind, the Commission proposes that employers consider the following options advanced by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and the New York Commission on Human Rights in order to reduce payroll expenditures in a non discriminatory manner:

1. "Work sharing" may be instituted whereby all employees work fewer hours so that none need to be laid off.
2. Senior employees could be encouraged to retire voluntarily by increased inducements thus reducing the size of the payroll without the necessity of laying off newer employees where the percentage of minorities and women is generally greatest.
3. Rotating layoffs may be initiated to have groups of employees go on unemployment for specified relatively brief periods of time. Rotation of layoffs must be on a random basis.
4. Yet another possibility is the establishment of separate seniority lists for minorities and women.
5. Employers might also consider temporary reductions in pay for higher level managerial employees.

The objective of the implementation of any one of the above methods of work contraction is to guarantee that the old system of "last hired, first fired" does not work to undermine the economic progress of minorities and women.

In cases where labor contracts provide for adherence to the principle of last hired, first fired, the Commission urges labor and management to deviate from that system by mutual agreement and to pursue one of the above-mentioned options. It must be remembered, the Commission declares, that the right of all citizens to have equal access to employment opportunities is the law of the land.

Interested parties are urged to discuss the possible application of these guidelines to their individual situations. Calls should be directed to Joan E. Hill, Director, Princeton Joint Commission on Civil Rights, 924-7138.

Tribute was paid to Bishop Prince A. Taylor Jr. of 193 Laurel Circle when his portrait was hung in the international headquarters building of the World Methodist Council in Lake Junaluska, N.C.

The World Methodist Council is an organization of the Methodist churches of the world and has 62 distinct member groups located in 90 countries. Bishop Taylor served for five years as the first chairman of the council's executive committee after reorganization from governance by a single president to an eight member presidium in 1971.

In his remarks at the unveiling of the portrait, the general secretary said of Bishop Taylor, "At a time when new nations were emerging out of their past colonial histories in Africa, Prince Taylor, then residing in Liberia, was emerging as a leader in ever-widening responsibilities as a bishop of the then Methodist Church. His episcopal service was to span two continents. By his background and in his person, he symbolized the World Methodist Councils as a world body.

"His incisive mind, his keen insight into human nature, his cosmopolitan outlook, his convincing speech, above all, his commitment to Jesus Christ and His kingdom contributed mightily to extend the Council's work and influence. In many ways, Bishop Taylor exemplifies that bridge about which he spoke as he addressed the 13th World Methodist Conference one year ago. He said, 'We seek to be a bridge to the ecumenical movement—a bridge of fellowship and understanding across the chasm of race, nationality, color and language.'"

Bishop Taylor is currently honorary president of the World Methodist Council.

News Of The CHURCHES

PLANS OUTLINED

By Pastors' Group. At its first executive board meeting, the new administration of the Princeton Pastors' Association made plans for the coming season.

According to Rabbi Melvin J. Glatt, president, the clergy organization's theme of the year will be "Building Bridges Of Understanding." Emphasizing that his colleagues of the Association feel the need for on-going dialogue among all religious denominational groups, Rabbi Glatt underscored that it is essential for people to understand one another's spiritual heritages. To promote such sensitivity will be one major task of the PPA in the coming year.

A second thrust of the PPA's program will be community concern. The executive board has indicated its full support of the local Interim Housing Program for teen-agers, of the CROP walk to alleviate world hunger which takes place in the fall, and of the work of the Princeton Interfaith Council. Other support projects of the PPA will be announced as the season progresses.

Assisting Rabbi Glatt in the leadership of the PPA is Rev. Blain Aldrich, vice-president; Dr. Edward Frost, treasurer-secretary; Rev. Allen Gartner, immediate past-president. Groups which would like to have a member of the PPA as a guest speaker for particular programs are asked to contact Rabbi Glatt. Regular monthly meetings of the PPA will begin in September.

TO BE ORDAINED SUNDAY

At First Baptist Church. Silas M. Townsend will be ordained Sunday at 4 at the First Baptist Church, John Street and Paul Robeson Place. The Rev. Dr. S. Howard Woodson, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Church in Trenton, will be the ordination speaker.

The Rev. Silas Townsend

Mr. Townsend holds a bachelor of music degree from Millikin University in Decatur, Ill., and a master of divinity degree from Princeton Theological Seminary. He is the associate to the Rev. Edward Smith, pastor of First Baptist Church, and is director of music at the church. He also serves as executive director of the Burlington County Community Action Program.

"FOUR MAPLES FARM"

HARBOURTON! In the prestige estate area of Hopewell Township, we are extremely proud to offer a charming Victorian farm house - indeed, a New Jersey classic - restored carefully and in good taste by its loving owners who are now reluctantly starting South, but who are leaving this property far better than they found it - and ready for another young growing family! The customary amenities of the bygone era abound: formal dining room, separate parlour, high ceilings, period mouldings, and they are only embellished by a family wing added about a decade ago. A beamed cathedral ceiling highlights the additional expansive room with lots of useable built-ins, a great stone fireplace, and a separate, complete, inservice wet bar! Of course, there is a kitchen designed by the meticulous owner who has incorporated every convenience a gourmet cook would expect, all in understated tones! Three bedrooms, with baths, separate almost-finished garage apartment, outbuildings, and twenty acres. $295,000 with more land available.

ALL NEW LISTINGS...

ONE OF PRINCETON'S most gracious houses. Steadman-designed and moved from its original location to this lovely two acre lot with trees and formal gardens, not to mention more than 2 dozen exquisite holly trees, near Carnegie Lake, just over the bridge. A modern wing was incorporated in the 50's that blends in beautifully with the original! The original two parlours form to make a warm family room with high ceilings and fireplace, the new wing provides a formal living room with elegant marble fireplace. A master bedroom suite with full bath and doors to the patio is nearby. Of course, a formal dining room, and super family kitchen complete the first floor. Bedrooms upstairs are in separate wings with two and a full bath in one part, and three with two baths in another. All new wiring, heating, of course, and a barn garage completes this almost perfect picture. $187,500

INTO EVERYONE'S LIFE AT SOME TIME THERE NESTLES THE DREAM OF RAINBOW HILL! RAINBOW HILL, as the name implies, high on a ridge nobly viewing the surrounding valley. An eighteenth century New Jersey classic, restored to such perfection, that George Washington would feel at home should he return! Dating back to 1768, and later owned by Henry Reading in 1790, it has been passed on through the generations, often abused, but now really loved by the present owners who have painstakingly toiled to restore authenticity. Successful in their task, they now reluctantly leave for new challenges. But they are offering a warm, comfortable 12-room central hall colonial with wide floor boards, chairrails, wainscoting, and all else one would expect in the Federal house of this area. A few original features are open beams, brick floor, six working fireplaces, original Adam's mantels. Gracious living is enhanced by a fieldstone patio and lovely mature grounds. An attached stone wing is used as guest suite or in-law apartment. Of course, there is acreage (6) and a modern barn with five box stalls and water and electricity for total enjoyment and convenience. Please call for the particulars. This is an exceptional property.

EXTRAORDINARY... in an area of coveted houses, Westcott Road, Princeton Borough, we are proud to offer this exceptional blend of classic colonial with contemporary family living space! Perfect for the active, growing, interested -- and interesting -- family who like to cook, dine, work, play and be together! All the regular amenities one would expect, of course: five bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths, living room with fireplace, dining room, sun porch, and the award-winning family kitchen wing that you really must see for yourself. Within walking distance of Palmer Square, the University and much more. $190,000

CAN YOU BELIEVE... a perfectly lovely restored Victorian in the Borough of Hopewell. Noted for some of the area's most charming bits of turn-of-the-century architecture, Hopewell is rightly proud of this house! Appealing in every detail: stately lines, gracious living room, delightful dining room with a wet bar, opening to a flagstone patio and fenced yard, modern kitchen with a fireplace. Three good-sized bedrooms and a family bath. Technically sound, too. $63,000

THERE'S A NEW LOOK IN TOWN - PRINCETON THAT IS! It is in this uniquely designed contemporary presently under construction on a private lane by Benedict Yedlin on an incomparable wooded acre with shared ownership in a four acre park-like setting for those who have a zest for living. Unusual window treatment throughout, spectacular roof line, cedar siding - all custom features found only in an architect designed house: Living room with fireplace, dining room, kitchen, breakfast room, family room with fireplace. Upstairs - master bedroom with bath, laundry room, three more bedrooms with hall bath. Rear deck across rear whole house, basement, two car garage, color selections still may be yours. $155,000

FOUR MAPLES FARM, HARBOURTON! In the prestige estate area of Hopewell Township, we are extremely proud to offer a charming Victorian farm house -- indeed, a New Jersey classic -- restored carefully and in good taste by its loving owners who are now reluctantly starting South, but who are leaving this property far better than they found it -- and ready for another young growing family! The customary amenities of the bygone era abound: formal dining room, separate parlour, high ceilings, period mouldings, and they are only embellished by a family wing added about a decade ago. A beamed cathedral ceiling highlights the additional expansive room with lots of useable built-ins, a great stone fireplace, and a separate, complete, inservice wet bar! Of course, there is a kitchen designed by the meticulous owner who has incorporated every convenience a gourmet cook would expect, all in understated tones! Three bedrooms, with baths, separate almost-finished garage apartment, outbuildings, and twenty acres. $295,000 with more land available.

An Abandoned Quarry Is Found Worth $90,000 per Acre

The final seal of approval from the State of New Jersey is expected in a few weeks, granting Green Acres money to help buy 4.536 acres of land between Spruce Street and Lloyd Terrace. It will probably be known—already is known—as Quarry Park.

When Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley announced recently that the state had approved the appraised value of the land—$409,000—as the purchase price, most people interested in the project simply said, well, at least that hurdle has been cleared.

Not many stopped to think what the arithmetic means.

This parcel of land, bare and scrubby and consisting to a great degree of fill, street-sweepings from Borough gutters, left-over concrete block chunks or black-top from this project or that, land on the far side of town from what is usually regarded as the fashionable western section — land abutting a public housing project — is worth almost $100,000 an acre: $90,167.54, to be precise.

The original appraiser, in fact, said it was worth $470,000.

This property is at the eastern end of Spruce Street. Land at the western end of Spruce Street, where it stops as it enters Moore, is worth even more. A year and a half ago, J. Robert Hillier's Design Interface, Inc. subsidiary, paid a reported $140,000 for the old University Cleaners property on Willow and Moore, where town houses are now under construction. The parcel comprises .833 acres, which works out to $168,067 per acre.

Values Boom. "It's just flabbergasting to me," says John Houghton, who was, with Karl Light, one of the two appraisers who submitted figures to the state. "Values are just sky-rocketing."

Mr. Houghton's figure was the one accepted by the state. Mr. Light's appraisal was $408,200.

The owner of the property is Charles LaPlaca, whose home at 302 Nassau, is on a 550-foot-long corridor of land adjoining the park site. Harold Wachtel, of a firm known as Princeton Venture, has had the option to buy the land from Mr. LaPlaca. Mr. Wachtel is a developer from West Orange, and he became interested in the property because he wanted to build 32 townhouses on the site.

The Planning Board's plan review committee gave conditional site plan approval in May, 1974. But the Planning Board itself had so many questions, it said, that it could not even act on the site plan. The board also, --- unanimously — declared that high-income, multiple-housing on the site was in "direct conflict" with the Borough's Master Plan, and refused to give the Borough Zoning Board a favorable recommendation for granting a conditional use variance.

PARK HERE: Dotted lines outline the park on the site of the old quarry. The filled-in quarry itself is at the foot of Queenston Place. The Lloyd Terrace homes for the elderly back up to the park and face Harrison Street. Quiet, passive recreation is planned, with picnic-tables and maybe garden plots for Lloyd Terrace, but no ballfields. Neighbors in the Quarry Park Association have been raising money to help develop the area.

Advice Ignored. The site has been on the Borough Master Plan as a park since 1967. The Zoning Board ignored the Planning Board and granted conditional use authorization, anyway.

Last spring, the Borough announced that it would begin negotiations with Princeton Venture to buy the land for a park. Edmund Cook, hired by the Borough to appraise the land, said he valued it at $272,000.

That was in mid-spring. Mr. Cook kept a watchful eye on the property and on the market and by June, he was saying it was worth $470,000.

"It's what you can do with the property—that's what appraisers ask," Mr. Houghton has pointed out.

In early 1974, town houses in "Village Green," which was to have been the name of the Princeton Venture project, were announced at $60,000. Town houses in the Hillier grouping on Willow and Moore are now $90,000 and above — if any were available.

It's also the market itself, Mr. Houghton continues. What would the fair market value be for houses built on a given parcel of land?

Policy Switch. The reason the Borough changed appraisers is that the municipality became caught in the gears of the state machinery. Unsavory appraisal practices in a northern New Jersey community caused the Department of Environmental Protection, which administers Green

Acres money, to change its policy. Henceforth, it ruled, appraisals for potential Green Acres properties would be made — "of all people!" lay

AND NOW....LYON
At Cabaret Piano. With diffidence and not even a "tadaaaaaa," pianist Milt Lyon will appear at Inn Cabaret's piano this Friday. Creator of the P.J. & B. musicals and director of all but one of them, Milt Lyon is also Princeton Triangle director and appeared last summer as a performer with Inn Cabaret.

The cast for this week's second show of the season, will also include Roo Brown - she's musical director of Cabaret as well - and her son Charles, back from his first year at Dartmouth.

And there'll be Carole Davis, who made her first Cabaret appearance this spring, and regulars Jim Hopkins and Susie McCabe. Ken Alcorn, a student in the North Carolina School of the Arts, will join the show for the first time.

Shaw's "Candida." ".....a wonderful combination of fantasy and reality, period and contemporary, irony and seriousness. You never know what's Shaw and what's his alter-ego. It's a marvelous play to return to Princeton to direct."

Kathy Mendeloff, who's been at the Yale School of Drama, held a read-through last Thursday for Shaw's "Candida," which she will direct as the opener in Summer Intime's 10th summer season, and full rehearsals are now under way.

It will open next Thursday, June 30, and will play through July 10. The theatre is Murray Theatre on campus, and curtain-time is 8:30. Subscription information and reservations may be obtained at 452-8181.

In the "Candida" cast, will be Intime regulars like Katherine Stewart, Mark Nelson, Nancy Bleemer and Geoff Rich, plus newcomers - Keith Moore and Paul Lawrence from New York.

the corner of Washington Road and William Street. Free parking is available in nearby University lots.

The documentary about Amin is said to give a revealing, and often intimate, look at the controversial ruler, even though he had final approval of the finished product. Director Schroeder has called him "part buffoon, part menace and all tyrant."

"The Ruling Class" stars O'Toole as the mad 14th Earl of Gurney who believes he is Christ re-incarnated -- or possibly Jack the Ripper. Along the way, "The Ruling Class" makes a frontal assault on the English class system and its comic conventions.

Other films scheduled for the summer will come from such directors as Bertolucci, Truffaut, Schlesinger, Fellini, Bunuel, Kubrick, Lindsay Anderson, Malle, Chabrol and -- but not least, simply because he is last, Charles Chaplin.

Four Sunday 4 p.m. matinees will be for the family. This Sunday's will be a single showing of the Marx Brothers "Animal Crackers."

The cinema series is jointly sponsored by Princeton Moviegoers, the Arts Council of Princeton and McCarter.

CREATIVE 4'S

Five-year-olds, Too. Four and five-year-olds yearning to spend a creative summer are invited to do so in Creative Theatre's Idea Workshop, to be held Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday mornings from July 5 through 28 in McCarter Theatre.

Creative drama, movement, visual arts and sensory awareness are all on the curriculum developed by Joan Robinson and Francia White. Cost: $75. The workshop is limited to 20 children.

Registration may be made through Creative Theatre Unlimited at 924-3489 from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. weekdays, or 466-0343 after 6 p.m.

PARENTS INVITED

Bring Sense of Wonder. "My concern is simply to re-discover with you that sense of wonder that is a natural part of every child's life," says Brian Way, pioneer in participatory children's theatre in England and this country.

He will lead a free Parents Night Workshop next Monday, June 27, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. at the Unitarian Church under the sponsorship of Creative Theatre Unlimited. Attendance will be limited to 40 persons, and anyone interested is advised to make reservations at 924-3489 between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. week-days.

Mr. Way is founder and director of Theatre Centre, Ltd., of London, and the author of "Development through Drama." He has been active in the arts in education since 1943.

"PAINT YOUR WAGON"

In Final Week-end. It's almost the end of the trail for the 1951 Lerner - Loewe musical, "Paint Your Wagon," now playing in the Open Air Theatre, Washington Crossing. It will play this Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with an 8:30 curtain and a Sunday evening rain date.

The Neshaminy Players, a group of students, parents and alumni affiliated with Neshaminy Langhorne High School, are the actors and singers, and Theodore Kloos is directing.

"Paint Your Wagon" will be followed on June 30 by "L'il Abner." The Pennington Players production will run two week-ends.

DANCERS SELECTED

By Princeton Ballet. The 1977 annual auditions for the Princeton Ballet Company attracted more dancers from a wider geographical area than ever before, according to Audree Estey, director.

Over 100 candidates representing more than 30 dance schools in New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania were auditioned by Douglas Wassell, Harkness House of Ballet Arts, and Barbara Sandomato, formerly of The Pennsylvania Ballet, for ballet and by Heidi Bunting, Paul Taylor Dance Company, and Larry Clark, Viola Farber Dance Company, for modern dance.

Accepted from the greater Princeton area in ballet are Linda Edwards of Kingston; Betsy Guerin, Penny Kingan and Julie Opperman of Princeton, senior company; Denise Kendall, Princeton Junction, Eve Murto, Princeton, Pierrette Newman and Heide Sackertotzky, Lawrenceville, Sarah Pennett and Kristin Rodewald, Rocky Hill, all senior apprentices; also Robin Baxendale, Erin Fitzgerald, Beth Keuhn, Jessica Liu, Shari Nyce and Johanna Wirtz, all of Princeton; Cynthia Lancelot, Skillman, junior company; Susannah Goodman, Jessica Pineo, Weedie Sisson, Yaffa Weaver, Princeton, Cindy Tetz, Skillman, and Christine Hart, Pennington, junior apprentice.

Modern dancers selected include Karen Carter of Princeton, senior company; Jill Bonin, Princeton, Denise Kendall, Princeton Junction, senior apprentices; Jennifer Benton, Princeton; and Erin Fitzgerald, Beth Keuhn, Shari Nyce and Katherine van den Blink, all of Princeton, junior company.

As part of a plan to upgrade the company, Mrs. Estey asked all senior ballet members to re-audition this year. In the fall another audition is planned to acquire a nucleus of six professional dancers for the 1977-78 season to augment the critically acclaimed regional troupe, which will be made up of 30 senior members plus 45 junior and apprentice members.

Founded by Mrs. Estey in 1963, the Princeton Ballet in addition to its annual performances at McCarter Theatre and Trenton's War Memorial, will tour "The Nutcracker" next season. The schedule also includes several performances at the New Jersey State Museum, two spring performances at McCarter and a 15-performance tour of New Jersey schools with other bookings still being negotiated.

WANT TO BE "POOH"?

Auditions Scheduled. Lots of stars, or feature players anyway, will be needed for Street Theatre's production of "The Further Adventures of Winnie the Pooh," and auditions have been scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday, June 28 and 29 at 1 p.m. in Dorothea House. (That's the building across the field from the main YM-YWCA building. It faces John Street.) Musicians and technicians are needed as well.

"Pooh" will be presented the first two weeks in August. Groups interested in sponsoring a performance are invited to call Debbie Bellow, 924-7452.

IF YOU LIVE outside of Princeton and are regularly buying TOWN TOPICS at a newsstand, a mail subscription can save you time and money. Call 924-2200 today.

Finances have always been a melodrama for Street Theatre, and the organization is still seeking tax-deductible contributions. The theatre also needs a truck to pull its mobile stage through several locations in July and August.

The next in Street Theatre's workshops will be one in technical theatre, to be held Monday, June 27, through Friday, July 1 from 10 a.m. until noon. Ken Jenkins will direct.

The following workshop will be one on improvisation, led by Julie Denny. Interested participants in either workshop may call the Street Theatre number, 924-7452, for information.

THREE GROUPS BENEFIT From Pops Concert. A big family picnic on the lawn, a 90-minute Pops Concert by the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra, and a grand finale of musical fireworks — you couldn't find a better way to celebrate the Fourth of July.

Princeton's first Pops Concert will be held on Sunday, July 3, at the Princeton University Field, next to Palmer Stadium. The ground will be open at 5:30 for "bring your own" picnics at 5:30. Soda will be on sale.

The concert begins at 7 and will climax with Tchiakovsky's "1812 Overture," complete with the finale as originally written. There will be 18 cannon volleys and rocket flares, all staged by the pyrotechnic specialists who direct spectaculars at the Jones Beach Marine Theatre. The 80-member orchestra will be directed by Thomas Michalak, its new music director.

A benefit for Princeton area youth services, the program is sponsored by the Princeton Chapter of the New Jersey Symphony Orchestra league, Princeton Youth Fund, and the YWCA for its Bates fund.

The program will include selections from Dvorak, Maschagni, Smetana, some Strauss waltzes, a medley from "Fiddler on the Roof," Copland's "Hoedown" from "Rodeo"—all building up to the explosive Tchiakovsky finale.

Tickets at $4 for adults, $2 for students and seniors, and $1 for those under 18, are on sale at the Nassau Street offices of Princeton Bank and Trust Co. and First National Bank of Princeton, and at the YWCA office. Proceeds will help support children's concerts for first to fourth graders, two concerts for fifth through eighth grade students, rehearsal "look-ins" at Symphony Hall in Newark to which area high schools send students every year, and Young Artist Auditions for New Jersey musicians.

In addition the proceeds will benefit the Bates Scholarship Fund which allows young girls to participate in the summer day camp program sponsored by the YWCA. Finally, the

REALISM THE THEME
Of Exhibit at Western Electric. Realism has been as subject to the dictates of fashion as the hemline of milady's dress. Although the term would seem to be reasonably precise, it has assumed many different forms in painting and sculpture.

During this century, realism was under seige for many years. The social realism of the '30s gave way in successive decades to the disciples of Pollock and de Kooning. The image was replaced by the dynamic re-directing of the focus from subjective to the structural elements.

Just when it seemed that the recognizable image had all but disappeared as a result of its vigorous rejection by makers and viewers of art alike, a new realism appeared that was as modish as the anti-imagery that preceded it. The au courant artist popped his slide in the projector, focused on his canvas and blithely colored his image for a "new, larger than life, realism." Happily, the new realism has also generated renewed interest in all forms of art using recognizable imagery. This has presented the viewer with increased opportunities to view work that more traditional artists had been developing over the years, but which had been eclipsed by the focus on other styles of expression.

"BY THE FIREPLACE": Almost life-size, the acrylics of Mel Leipzig evoke the realism of everyday life, in contemporary style. This "newrealism" is the subject of an exhibit now open to the public at Western Electric. Mr. Leipzig is on the art faculty at Mercer County Community College.

Five such artists are on view at the Gallery at Western Electric. "Images from Life," assembled by the Princeton Gallery of Fine Art, includes a combination of the classical and the contemporary. Paintings by Mel Leipzig, Sondra Lee, Jason Fishbein and Charles Pfahl together with sculpture by Charles Wells offer technique and subject matter that is basically traditional but is often used to relate a contemporary idiom.

Interiors, still life, and figurative painting represent the present but are rendered in styles that include the carefully wrought classical approaches of earlier generations of painters. This artistic reconciliation of the past and the present creates its own dynamic through visual and conceptual contrasts. The work is pleasing to contemplate and can be considered on many levels. The variety of expression inherent in realistic art is well portrayed. A variety of visual pleasures is equally available.

At the University Art Museum. A display of recent photographic acquisitions is a history of photography in microcosm. These additions to the University's extensive collection span almost all of the years of the camera.

There are prints from the mid-19th century including early portraiture and travel views. Notable is a still life which bears all the romantic overtones of a Victorian painting.

The middle years of the photograph are represented by the works of Helen Levitt and Elli Marcus among others. Also included are many of the diverse styles to be found in contemporary photography. Social commentary, photojournalism and photographs that examine and develop the design potential of the subject are all seen in this collection.

At Gallery 100. A collection of collographs by Elizabeth Monath explores floral subject matter in various ways. This artist had developed a technique in which the likeness of the actual flower is combined with a tonal background and often printed with several color accents. Variety is added by the addition of textural effects and shaped plates.

Cat silhouettes, another favorite theme explored by this artist, are included in combination with the floral patterns and design. Muted color is heightened by bright color detail which complement the soft tonal effects.

Acrylics by Nancy O'Connor are featured in the group display in the upstairs gallery. Still life, worked in a high key palette offers pleasing forms and dramatic color. Although this artist is basically faithful to her subject, she uses it as a basis for well structured design, satisfying and creative color harmonies.

Husband and Wife Receive Ph.Ds

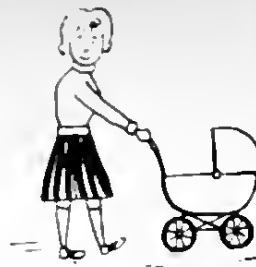

When Howard and Leah Siegel received their Ph.D degrees in electrical engineering earlier this month, it was the first known time that Princeton University has bestowed doctorates to a husband and wife in the same field at the same time.

The Siegels, who are both age 27 and specialists in computer engineering, have been teaching and doing research for the past year as assistant professors at the School of Electrical Engineering of Purdue University in Indiana. They returned to Princeton for commencement exercises June 7, having completed their four years of graduate work here in 1976. They had met as undergraduates at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and were married the summer after graduation, in 1972.

They live in West Lafayette, Indiana. Howard is the son of Leonard and Phyllis Siegel of New York City. Leah is the daughter of Harold and Margaret Jamieson, formerly of Trenton and now of Deal.

observers exclaimed — the Department of Transportation.

The reason is that the DOT has a "Right of Way" division with sub-sections devoted to land acquisition and appraisals, and a lot of experts in the field. The state told the Borough, however, that if local appraisers wanted to qualify as state appraisers, it was all right with them, and Mr. Houghton and Mr. Light did so. Mr. Cook declined.

The contract of sale with Princeton Venture to buy the land was signed in February. Deadline for the final closing is September 1. The Borough gave the company extra time to iron out several complications: among them a suit brought by W. Bryce Thompson IV against both Princeton Ventures and Mr. LaPlaca for the realtors' fee.

Green Acres money will pay for one-half the purchase price, providing $204,500. The Borough has $151,000 in Federal HUD money. The remaining $53,500 will come from Borough taxpayers or possibly private individuals. The Borough has authorized a $475,000 bond issue, but will pare this down to the precise required amount when the time comes to issue the bonds.

The quarry land is probably the last remaining piece of open land of any size, in the Borough. However, if another developer like Mr. Hillier sees a likely structure that might be razed for more town houses...

The first of six weekly preschool storyhours will be held Tuesday at 2 for children 3½ to 5 years old. For children 6 and older, stories will be read on Monday evening at 7:30 by Littlebrook School librarian John Counts. No registration is required for either story series.

The Wednesday afternoon film series begins on June 29 at 3:30. Children under the age of five must be accompanied by an adult. No tickets are required.

Films begin with "Family Adventure on a Wild River," and continue with "Paddle to the Sea," and "Red Ball Express" (July 6); "Le Capitaine H" and "One Kitten for Kim" (July 13); "John Tabor's Ride" and "Sorcerer's Apprentice" (July 20); "A Study in Wet" and "The Golden Fish" (July 27); "A Pretty Kettle of Fish" and "Magic Rolling Board" (August 3).

Philatelists age six and up are invited to trade stamps and see a slide presentation entitled, "70 years of First Day Covers," on Thursday, July 30 at 2:30. Special attention will be given to people who would like to start a stamp collection.

Avi, author of "No More Magic" and "Captain Gray," will read to children in 3rd grade and up from a new book which has not yet been published. Registration is requested at the children's desk. There will also be a series of special summer workshops on Thursdays beginning July 7. Call the library, 924-9529 for further information.

TAPROOM CREATED

As Historical Society Exhibit. A taproom typical of a tavern of the latter part of the 18th or early 19th century has been recreated in the exhibit room at Bainbridge House, headquarters of the Historical Society at 158 Nassau Street. Open to the public beginning Sunday, the taproom will remain on view into October.

To evoke the appropriate atmosphere, a caged bar has been built for the taproom and a fireplace installed. The room is arranged with furnishings, including a tavern table, 18th-century chairs, and examples of pewter, glassware, china, and bottles, that would have been found in a tavern of the period. Of particular interest among the wall decorations is an original late 18th-century petition for a license to operate a tavern in Bainbridge House.

Also on display will be a broadside of the period listing the rates that a tavern could legally charge. The material on exhibit has been loaned from the New Jersey State Museum, the Rahway Historical Society and a number of private collections.

In the early days of our country the tavern was far more than a spot for the pause that refreshes or a shelter for the traveller. It occupied a vital place in the life of the community, serving as a social gathering spot, a place to do business, to play games, and to exchange the news. Town governments frequently met at the local tavern, courts were held there and taxes collected.

Princetonians Married on June 25, 1927

And on the Eve of Their 50th Anniversary

H. Kenaston Twitchell and his wife, the former Marian Smith, will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday at a reception for more than 100 guests at their home, 20 Alexander Street. Mrs. Smith is the daughter of the late Senator H. Alexander Smith and Mrs. Smith. The couple are shown emerging from Proctor Hall of the Graduate College on June 25, 1927, and in a photograph taken recently in the garden of their home.

Among the guests will be Mrs. Samuel Shoemaker, Mrs. Twitchell's sister, who was maid of honor at the wedding; Hanford Twitchell, who was best man, and his wife, a bridesmaid, and Harvey Emery, who was an usher. Mr. and Mrs. Twitchell's three children and five grandchildren will also be present. Their son, H. Kenaston Twitchell Jr., and his wife, Lydia, are from Bennington, Vt., a daughter, Mrs. W. Van Dusen Wishard lives in Reston, Va., and her husband is in the Department of Commerce; and a second daughter, Patricia Twitchell, lives in Palmer Square and works in Firestone Library.

Mr. Twitchell was recently honored by the Freedoms Foundation with its Valley Forge Honor Certificate Award for his 1976 essay and pamphlet on The Great Seal of the United States. He was cited for "an outstanding accomplishment in helping to achieve a better understanding of the American Way of Life."

that colonial law required every community to have at least one. An 1788 map of Princeton reveals five taverns in town at that time. The exhibit will be open Tuesday through Friday, 10 to 4 Saturdays and Sundays, 2 to 4.

CALENDAR AVAILABLE OF State Museum Programs. Visitors to the New Jersey State Museum in Trenton any day from July 5 through the end of August will have a choice of a variety of activities that will include gallery walks, an Indian ceremony, movies, an informative lecture about mastodons, planetarium shows and tours of the nearby State House.

There are also exhibits of Indian artifacts, New Jersey art porcelain, paintings, antiques, natural history specimens and more. As an added attraction, there's no charge for admission.

Free copies of the Museum's complete July-August schedule are now available by phoning 292-6308 or writing to Calendar, N.J. State Museum, 205 West State Street, Trenton. The State Museum, a division of the New Jersey Department of Education, will be open this summer from 9 to 4:45 Monday through Friday and from 1 to 5 weekends and most holidays (closed July 4).

TOUR OF FARMS SET By Regional Study Group. A tour of six active farms in Mercer and nearby portions of Middlesex County will be sponsored by the Middle-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council, Inc. on Saturday, from 9 to 3. Study Council members and the general public are invited to come.

Orchard, dairy, nursery, grain, poultry, and vegetable operations will be visited to allow participants to view first hand the variety of opportunities and problems of farming in a developing area. There will be ample time for discussion of farm operations with farm community leaders.

The bus tour, sponsored by the Study Council in cooperation with the Mercer County Board of Agriculture and the County Extension Service, will leave from and return to MSM's new offices on Mapleton Road in Plainboro. Charles Holmes, Mercer County Extension Agent, and Samuel M. Hamill, Jr., MSM Executive Director, will lead the tour. The Middlesex-Somerset-Mercer Regional Study Council, Inc. (or, MSM) is an independent, non-profit regional planning and research organization primarily concerned with the use of land in the central New Jersey area.

Farming is the most extensive use of land in the MSM region. New Jersey farmland - among the finest in the world - is this area's principal natural resource. MSM is studying ways to learn more about the economics of farming and ways to protect prime farmlands from loss to land development.

To defray transportation costs, MSM will charge $5 for adults and $2.50 for children, who are particularly welcome. Participants are asked to bring a picnic lunch for a stop at a scenic spot. Reservations will be taken on a first-come basis until the bus is full. For reservations and further information, call 452-1717.

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW
Brought to you
By John Bernard

Here's an odd one for you ... No second-baseman has been able to lead either major league in home runs at the end of any season in more than 50 years! ... The last big league second-baseman to win a homer title was Rogers Hornsby, and that was in the National League in 1925.

+++

It's a surprising tennis fact -- even to those who regularly play or follow tennis -- that there is NO rule in the sport regulating the size of the racket ... You can play tennis legally with any size or weight racket ... You can, if you want, use as big a racket as you can hold.

+++

Did you know that Jack Norworth, the man who wrote the most famous baseball song of all-time, "Take Me Out To The Ball Game", had never seen a baseball game when he wrote that song -- and what is even stranger is this ... After he wrote the song in 1906, and became famous and made lots of money from it, Norworth waited 34 more years -- till 1940 -- to go see his first big league game!

I bet you didn't know ... that many health insurance plans, including Blue Cross - Blue Shield, do not cover children after they are 19 years old. Give us a call. We'll explain it to you.

Tiger Teams, Capturing 7 of 17 Ivy Titles, Thoroughly Dominate Ivy League Competition

"What's wrong with Princeton athletics" is a question that many disgruntled alumni asked each other at the annual June reunions. For virtually all of them, the inquiry was based on the long downslide of Tiger football fortunes, the sport which is largely equated with ability to hold one's head high when debating "athletic success" with an alumnus of any of the other Ivy colleges.

It is, actually, a question based solely on emotion and not at all on fact. In the academic year just ended, not only did Princeton teams achieve the greatest success they have ever recorded among their peers in Ivy action, but it is entirely probable that none of their other seven has ever done as well.

There are, at the men's level of competition, 17 team championships open to the eight Ivy colleges. If they were divided evenly, each college would win two outright and share an eighth of the other. In the face of such statistics, athletes in Orange and Black won seven outright, while such a traditionally strong college as Dartmouth was totally shut out and Yale, the Tigers' decade-long tormentor in football, managed only a tie in that sport with Brown.

From the day in mid-fall when Princeton took the title in cross country, until its tennis team coasted to its fourth straight title in mid-May, the Tigers dominated the sports in which they finished first. In a majority of the seven league races they won, they had outdistanced the field mathematically before the final games were played.

What makes Princeton's superiority in the Ivy League so emphatic is the fact that none of the Tigers' seven winners is a flash in the pan, a rags-to-riches entry that soared to the top briefly and will return quickly to the depths of second division. Coach Pete Carril's quintet was a repeater in the tough basketball league, which often sees its no. 1 team nationally ranked.

The tennis team finished on top for the fourth year in a row and the swimmers won their title for a fifth straight time, something not even Yale had done in its years of domination in the East. While odds are heavily against the Tigers winning these seven titles again -- or any other combination of seven -- they will begin their seasons next year in every case as the team to beat.

There is, of course, a lack of awareness on the part of most alumni, combined with the long-standing emphasis (or over-emphasis) placed on college football which results in belief that if success on the gridiron is persistently elusive, an entire athletic program is sub par. No daily newspaper in the East publishes even line scores, let alone league standings, in most of the sports involved. With the change in publication schedule of the Alumni Weekly to a smaller number of issues and the magazine's de-emphasis of sports coverage, there is no single medium of widespread circulation to publicize results.

For the record, Princeton athletics have never been healthier, although most of those who follow this segment of undergraduate life will never believe it until Tiger football returns at least to the role of contender in the Ivy League.

the offense. Barry Hibbs won his first outing while Joe Frangipani raised his mound record to 6-1.

New Jersey Bell and Squibb split their doubleheader. Squibb won the first game, 18-8, and New Jersey Bell the second, 13-9. Joe Huber batted 4-for-7 to help New Jersey Bell win its first game.

Norelco continued its winning ways by trouncing Ingersoll Rand twice, 28-8 and 21-2. Jeff Quay and Vern Washington each stroked two homeruns while John Sherera connected for one. John Garner was the winning pitcher in both games.

Princeton Applied Research surprised RCA by squeaking out two victories, 5-3 and 9-6. Bob Pullen and Dave Schureing contributed key hits in the victories. John Berry and Sy Letzter were the winning pitchers.

In the American Division, ETS was too much for FMC as it remained undefeated by sweeping both ends of their doubleheader, 19-5 and 5-2. Dave Heath homered for the winning margin in the 5-2 victory. John Baron batted 4-for-5 and Nick Chiantese homered in the other win. Pitcher Bill Degler was the winner in both games.

Tubesaes stayed in the race with twin victories over American Cyanamid, 9-4 and 10-5. Dan Carrille and Vic Reilly homered and Joe Scheehan had four hits, Tom Beck and Tom Samarick got credit for the wins.

Bill Swanhart Jr. (8-for-8) and Bill Faulkner (2 home runs) were the batting stars in a Firmenich doubleheader sweep from Johnson & Johnson, as Jim Kostro won his first two outings on the mound.

PPL-Forrestal remained on the heels of ETS with easy wins over EMR, 27-5 and 20-7. Home runs by Bob Milinowicz, Joe Frangipani, John Rzuzuck, Barry Hibbs and Ray Pressburger highlighted

JOGGERS TAKE NOTE
20 Kilometer Test Planned. Plans are underway to hold an open 20 kilometer race (12.4 miles) in September in Princeton along scenic roads - and a 5 kilometer (3.1 miles) Run-For-Fun race.

Several meetings have already been held by a planning committee comprised of Bud Vivian, Irwin Weiss, Richard Snedicker, Pete Morgan, Henry Arnold, Allen Poole, Charles Clark, Larry Ivan and Eamon Downey. The latter won a 5-mile run-for-fun mile held this spring in Pennington.

Tentative plans call for the race to start and end at Palmer Square and to use the facilities at Dillon gym. There would be prizes and a small entry fee.

The organizers hope that the Princeton community will become involved in the event and that anyone who has suggestions or is interested in helping will contact a member of the committee.

SEMI-FINALS SATURDAY
In Springdale Tournament. Four two-man teams are left in the annual Governors' Cup Tournament at Springdale Golf Club, with the semi-final round to be played Saturday morning and the survivors meeting for the championship in an 18-hole match Sunday. Match play is held with each golfer using his full handicap.

In action last weekend, Dick Thompson and Mike Meyers defeated Bob Cronin and Jim Schwartz, 5 and 3, and Jim McKinnon and Mike Curtin, 4 and 2, after Curtin-McKinnon had eliminated Charlie Hurford and Charlie Foster, 3 and 2. Jack Childress and Lyle Fitch advanced with a 6-and-5 triumph over Alan Frank, Jr. and Bob Lewis and a 1 up decision over Peter Budd and John Brophy. The latter won their first match, 3 and 1, over Ben Hermann and Terry Booth.

Harold Crane and Jim Litvack won twice, eliminating Alan Frank Sr. and Dick Schrantz, and then Don Shaw and Bill Quackenbush by identical scores of 2 and 1. Shaw-Quackenbush won Saturday from Wilbur Young and John Miller, 4 and 3. Jack Mudge and Jim Turgeon had to go 20 holes to edge by Ken Dawes and Eddie Donovan, after the latter pair had birdied two of the last three holes to draw even on the 18th green. Next day, Mudge and Turgeon advanced with a 3-and-2 victory over Willards Starks and Bill Middlebrook, who had won Saturday from Arne Booth and Lester Robbins, 2 and 1.

In a consolation round of the beaten eight, Cronin-Schwartz defeated Hurford-Foster, 5 and 4; Hermann-Booth won by default from Frank-Lewis; Frank-Schrantz defeated Young-Miller on the 19th hole; and Dawes-Donovan defeated

Gasoline bills got you down?

Try a Honda Civic CVCC

When your gasoline bill comes in each month does it look like you've been driving a Sherman tank? It needn't if you start driving a Honda Civic CVCC. Our Civic CVCC 5-Speed came in first this year in the EPA tests with 44 mpg on the highway, 41 mpg in the city, and 46 mpg combines. When you compare this kind of economy with what you may be paying now, switching to a new Honda Civic CVCC may really open your eyes!

Booth-Robbins, 1 up.

FREE CLINIC OFFERED

In Wrestling. A free wrestling clinic, sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department, will be held at the Princeton High School gym.

Three-hour sessions from 9-12 noon will start Monday and continue on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays through July 15. Open to boys in grades five through eight, the sessions will cover rules, basic wrestling moves, sportsmanship and conditioning. Demonstrations will be supplemented by movies and slides; other sporting activities will also be included in the sessions.

Members of the Princeton High wrestling team and senior boy scouts will comprise most of the staff, reported Matt Wilkinson, the clinic organizer. Wilkinson is both a standout wrestler on the PHS team and a scout who will have attained the rank of Eagle Scout -- scouting's highest honor -- at the completion of the clinic.

Also taking part in the clinic will be coaches from high school, junior high, the YMCA and former wrestlers, including an olympic medalist.

Complete information about the clinic is available from the Recreation Department or Wilkinson, 924-3278.

FINALS THIS WEEKEND

In Women's Singles. The opening round of the Princeton Community Tennis women's singles tournament, held in recognition of National Tennis Week, is in progress at the Princeton University courts. The finals will be played Saturday and Sunday. Seeded players are Natalie Usiskin, Kathy Stanton, Harriet Kass and Rosemary Lewis.

Entries close Thursday at noon for the men's singles tournament which begins Saturday.

Women's doubles, men's doubles, and mixed doubles tournaments will follow the men's singles event. Entry forms for all the tournaments may be obtained and left at 71 University Place.

HIGH SCORERS NAMED

By Indoor Tennis Center. The Princeton Indoor Tennis Center has named the high scorers in its annual men's and women's tennis leagues for the 1976-77 season: Emma Wirtz, Pat Hawley, Dot Richardson, Jean Kellar, Dot Dahl, Millie Hayes, Eileen Moynahan and Linda Petrone.

For the men, Tom O'Kane of Princeton Junction and Howie Kucks of Rocky Hill were the leaders. Voted most improved were Ted Barclay, Don Haws and Barry Barclay all of Cranbury.

Applications are now being accepted for evening play during the summer as well as next year's season. For further information, call the Indoor Tennis Center, 924-0015.

SHILLABER IS VICTOR

In Springdale Tourney. Kathy Shillaber posted a 36-hole score of 171 to win the annual Betty Whalen Tournament last week at Springdale Golf Club. Ruth Thornton finished second with 174.

The Chairman's Tournament was won by Marion Houghton with a net 59. Diana Dawes came in second with 60 and Sybil Hargraves third with 61.

Football Chairman Named

James C. Blair, 85 Balcort Drive, has been named to a three-year term as Chairman of the Friends of Princeton Football, a group which raises and coordinates resources for the University's football program. His selection was announced by outgoing Chairman, John C. Sapoch, Jr.

A co-winner in 1960 of the John P. Poe Trophy, Blair, Class of 1961, was a standout end for three seasons under former Head Coach Dick Colman. He was an especially capable pass receiver despite infrequent emphasis on the aerial game during his tenure.

Blair came to the University from Beverly Hills (California) High School. His father, Albert G. "Bud" Blair, is a member of the Class of 1932.

The new Friends of Football Chairman is a first vice-president with White, Weld and Company, Inc., a New York investment banking firm. Blair had been employed for eight years by RCA as a manager of Electronic Systems Designs.

Mrs. Sheila Leyton had a hole-in-one at the Club this month. She used a 3-wood on the 147-yard ninth hole.

PRINCETON PLACES SIX

In State Track Olympics. The Princeton Community Track Team placed six in the Junior Olympic Track Championships held last week at Rutgers Stadium.

Debbie Keller, 4 Worcester Drive, Princeton Junction, finished second in the Bantam standing long jump, while Sue Mooney, 317 Dodds Lane, received a bronze medal in the Junior shot put.

Princeton's Bantam 440 Relay Team placed third. Members were Scott Fisher, Freddy Young, David Bush and David Haynes.

FIRST PLACE SHARED

In Women's Tennis League. The Princeton Women's Competitive Tennis League finished its eight-week spring season with a tournament and awards at the Community Park Tennis Courts.

After a 35-game season in the doubles league, Acers and the Cosmos share first place. Each won 23 and lost 12. In this first year, no playoff was held to determine the second team. The No-Faults was third with 20 wins.

Olga Seiler and Robin Ross of the Acers had six wins in a seven game season, while Karen Savidge and Mary Pickens of No Faults tied Arlene Clemens and Sue Mould of the Clementines for the number one partnership in position two. Each had six wins.

The winning partners for position three were Peg Whitehead and Marg Prior. Chantal Callan and Mossik Sheldrick of the Clementines were number four and Barbara Faughnam and Brenda Powers of the Add-Ins were number five. The final standings:

TENNIS RACES CLOSE

In West Windsor. With one week to play in the West Windsor Recreation Commission's men's doubles leagues, two teams still have a chance to take the title in both the early evening and the late leagues.

In the early league, the Reeves Black, Bob Nielsen, Jerry Wang combination still lead, as they have all the season, with 12 points. With 11 points are the threesome of Bob Duncan, Stan Tatum and Bob Schenkel. In third place, the team of Ralph Bloom, Bernt Midland and Mark Zukor has 8 points and, although it has no chance for the title, it is hoping for one of the four playoff spots.

Two teams are tied for fourth -- both the trio of John DiPolvere, Jim Ruch and Pat Summers and the combination of Lew Coleman, Dick Dahl and Olof Hogrelus have 7 points. In sixth place but with still an outside chance to make the playoffs is the team of Ed Jordi, John Lombardi and Tony Zuccarello. It has 6 points.

In the late league, the leading team of Mike Herlihy, Stan Katz and Paul St. George is closing in on the title. It has 12 points while the second place team of Arnold Kritiz, Tom O'Kane and Ron Novak has 9. Jim Bishop, Jerry Cohen and Dave Kendall are in third place with 8; in the fourth and the last playoff spot are Steve Peck, Lin Williams and Harry Wycoff. The playoffs will be held during the week beginning Monday, with the top four teams in both leagues in action.

The Recreation Commission has announced that application blanks are now available for the summer men's and women's doubles leagues. The women will have leagues during the daytime and in the evening, while the men will have two doubles leagues in the evening. There will also again be a doubles couples league on Sunday evenings.

During the summer a mixed doubles league is planned in the evening for those of high school age. Application blanks are available at the town hall on Cranbury Road or in the library in Dutch Neck. The deadline for applications is Wednesday evening, June 29.
